140 DROWN WHEN SHIP HITS MINE IN GULF OF SMYRNA

Steamer Texas of the Archipelago American Steamship Line, Flying Turkish Flag, Deviates From Course and Strikes Turkish Defense.

66 PASSENGERS GO DOWN WITH VESSEL

Was Mail Carrier Between Constantinople and the Levant—American Interests Control the Fleet to Which She Was Attached.

SMYRNA, April 30.—The steamer Texas, belonging to the Archipelago American Steamship Co., struck a mine at the entrance to the Gulf of Smyrna today and sank.

One hundred and forty persons on board were drowned.

The Texas was flying the Turkish flag and was engaged in carrying mail from Constantinople to the Levant.

It was first stated that the Texas was an American vessel, the error arising from the fact that she is part of the fleet of a local concern trading under the name of the Archipelago-American Steamship Co.

66 of Those Drowned Were Passengers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30.—Ninety passengers out of the 156 on board the Texas, were rescued, according to reports received here. Several of the rescued passengers were injured. No mention is made of the crew in the report.

It is alleged that the disaster was due to the Texas deviating from the course indicated by the pilot preceding her through the mine field.

American Interests Own Fleet.

The Gulf of Smyrna is one of the finest harbors in the Mediterranean, and Smyrna itself is the principal seaport of Asiatic Turkey. The entrance to the Gulf was extensively mined some time ago by the Turkish authorities in order to protect the port against an attack by the Italian fleet.

The Texas was a vessel of 261 tons net register, built at New Castle, England, in 1888. She was at first called the Olympia, then rechristened the Marguerite, and finally received the name of the Texas.

At the time of the anti-Greek boycott, the fleet to which the Texas belonged, and which consists of eight vessels bearing the names of American states, was authorized to fly the United States flag by the American Consul-General because the company was largely controlled by American interests.

FIRST PRIMARY RETURNS FROM MASSACHUSETTS

Taft Wins First and Roosevelt Second Town to Report.

BOSTON, April 30.—Results of Massachusetts' first presidential preference primary were watched with deepest interest today, on account of the decisive effect they are expected to have on the contest between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt. The Democratic fight was almost lost sight of in the unparalleled struggle between the two leading factions of the Republican party.

The opening and closing of the polls was governed by different rules in different localities. In some of the fishing villages the voting started early, and when the list was complete, the count was taken, and the returns sent in. In other localities polls opened late and closed late.

Returns came in in the following order:

WEST TISBURY, on Martha's Vineyard. Taft, 7; Roosevelt, 6; La Follette.1.

ORLEANS, a Cape Cod town: Roosevelt, 55; Taft, 26; La Follette, 1; Clark, 7; Wilson, 1.

NEW HAMPSHIRE FOR TAFT

State Convention Instructs Delegates for President.

CONCORD, N. H., April 30.—The State Republican convention today elected delegates to the Chicago convention, favoring the renomination of President Taft, and instructed them to vote for him until released.

A clause in the platform presented to the convention instructing the delegates not to vote for Col. Roosevelt under any circumstances was stricken out after a heated debate.

$80,000 IN STOLEN AUTOS

Philadelphian Accused of Remodeling Purloined Machines.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Ever since the publication of the news of the arrest of Dr. Allen F. Gentry, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, on a charge of stealing automobiles, there has been a steady stream of motor car owners to detective headquarters at the city hall, each caller anxious to get trace of a missing machine.

The extraordinary charge against Gentry is that he stole automobiles and spirited them off to a workshop of his own at Morristown, N. J., where he transformed them into different looking cars, and then sold them to purchasers of second-hand cars. The police say the man has stolen several scores of automobiles in this city and elsewhere, and obtained at least $80,000 for them.

SHE PUTS MUNCIE FIRST

Diamond-Heeled Matron Would Not Give Home Town for Gotham.

MUNCIE, Ind., April 30.—Mrs. Charles Anthony of the diamond-heeled shoes came home this week after her grand promenade down Brogdway and across the polished floors of the White House in her gorgeous gowns and slippers.

"There's nothing like it," said Mrs. Anthony, referrring to her trip through the East. "Washington society is grand, but New York, with its brilliant whirl, is irresistible. But, after all, there is no place like home, and I wouldn't give up little old Muncie for them all."

ISMAY TO CHANGE NAME

Citizens Would Call Year-Old Texas Town Something Else.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 30.—The people of Ismay, Jackson County, a new town less than a year old, are preparing to to ask for permission to change the village's name.

It has been suggested that it be named Lowe, after the Titanic's officer who testified he "cussed out" Ismay.

Steamer in Tow After "S O S."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—A wireless message announced the Norwegian steamer Admiralen is in tow of a tug. "S O S" calls from her had reported her unmanageable off the Humboldt coast.

COURT IN UPROAR IN THE BAKEWELL WATER CURE DRAMA

"Has Not Lived Long Enough Yet," to Know if It Prevents Death, Says Miss Davis.

HEIRESS IS NOT PRESENT

Defendant's Husband and Attorney Take Turns Being Witnesses and Lawyers.

MRS. PAUL BAKEWELL JR. BECOMES A CATHOLIC

MRS. MARY FULLERTON BAKEWELL, wife of Paul Bakewell Jr., was received into the Catholic Church at the New Cathedral Monday. The Rev. Father Francis J. O'Connor officiated. Her husband made the fact public Tuesday.

At the time of her marriage three years ago, Miss Fullerton was regarded as the richest young woman in St. Louis. She and her family were Episcopalians and were regular attendants at Christ Church Cathedral.

The Bakewells have long been prominent members of the Catholic Church in St. Louis.

Another act in the Davis-Bakewell water drama was staged in Justice Chauncey Kreuger's court Monday afternoon when the $250 suit of Miss Susan Lawrence Davis, water cure specialist, against Mrs. Paul Bakewell Jr. was tried.

Mrs. Bakewell's failure to appear personally to defend the suit brought forth an indignant protest from Miss Davis, who was in turn sharply rebuked by Paul Bakewell Jr., husband of the defendant. Miss Davis, dressed in a gray silk suit and a rough green straw hat, sailor style, was busy directing the case, talking rapidly all of the time she was on the witness stand, and much of the time when she was not.

Bakewell attempted to testify in behalf of his wife, but was withdrawn as an incompetent witness by Mrs. Bakewell's attorney, S. T. G. Smith. Bakewell then assumed the role of attorney for Mrs. Bakewell, while Smith took the stand as a witness. Charles Sutter, an electrical contractor, whom Miss Davis pounded with telegrams, urging him to pay her for a course of instruction while he was in New York, on his way to South America, was present to testify against Miss Davis, but his testimony was also ruled out as incompetent.

There was a rapid change of scenes in the courtroom during the two hours' trial of the case. Miss Davis was on the witness stand no less than three times, and Attorney Smith had a busy time in the double capacity of lawyer and witness.

Mrs. Bakewell Absent.

When Bakewell made the excuse for his wife that she had been in a dentist's chair for two days Miss Davis sprang to her feet and shouted:

"I demand that Mrs. Bakewell be brought here to testify."

"It is not for you," retorted Bakewell, "to say whether Mrs. Bakewell shall be brought here."

Justice Kreuger took the case under advisement to give Attorney Smith time to file a brief in support of his defense that Miss Davis could not collect her claim because she held herself out as a physician when she had no license to practice medicine.

Miss Davis Testifies.

Miss Davis was the only witness in her own behalf. She testified that Mrs. Bakewell called at her apartments in the Planters Hotel, Sept. 8, 1911, and agreed to take a course of 10 lessons in hygienic instruction for $250. Miss Davis said she offered to give the instruction at the hotel for $100, but said Mrs. Bakewell preferred to pay $250 to have the course given at her home, 4484 Westminster place.

"I gave Mrs. Bakewell one double lesson at the hotel," Miss Davis testified. "It took two hours to give the instruction. I showed her how to use the water, and after taking the lesson she told me she felt much relieved. I expected her to continue the course, but she notified me that her husband objected. I went to see her husband and her physician, but she refused to complete the lessons, although I was ready and willing to give them."

On cross-examination Attorney Smith, coached by Bakewell, asked Miss Davis if she had not told Mrs. Bakewell that her water cure treatment would cure her of nervousness. She denied that she used the words "cure" or "treatment" in discussing the matter with Miss Bakewell. She said she gave Mrs. Bakewell "instructions" in internal and external bathing, and furnished instruments for applying the water.

"Didn't you give Mrs. Bakewell one of your booklets, entitled 'Preventive of Disease and Death'? Do you mean to say that people who take your treatment live forever?" asked Smith.

"Well, I have not lived long enough to GOVERNMENT SUES TO DISSOLVE GIANT HARVESTER TRUST

Charges $140,000,000 Concern, Subject of Taft-Roosevelt Row, Restrains Trade.

RECEIVER, IF EXPEDIENT

Monopolizing Patents and Control of Agents Alleged in Bill Filed at St. Paul.

By Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30.—The Government today began its long-planned trust suit against the International Harvester Co. in the Federal District Court here. In a petition in equity, this $140,000,000 corporation, popularly called the Harvester Trust, is declared to exist in violation of the Sherman law and its dissolution is sought.

To accomplish the disintegration of the so-called trust, the Government asks the Court to issue injunctions to bar from interstate commerce the products of the International Harvester Co. or the International Harvester Co. of America, its selling agency. The appointment of receivers to take charge of the property and wind up the business "if the Court should be of the opinion that the public interests will be better served thereby," is suggested.

The filing of the suit comes as the climax of five years of investigation by the Government. Lately the case has figured prominently in political discussion between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt, regarding certain instructions, which Roosevelt when President in 1907 gave to his Attorney-General, Charles J. Bonaparte, concerning the prosecution of the concern. That feature of the case was recently before the Senate.

Price Increase Charged.

In brief, the Government charges the Harvester company with being a combination in restraint of trade, monopolizing or attempting to monopolize the manufacture and sale of harvesting machinery. It is alleged that the company had advanced the prices of these articles "to the grave injury of the farmer and the general public" and is extending its business into all lines of agricultural implements with the purpose of monopolistic control.

The Government alleges that the International Harvester Co. "controls at least 90 per cent of the trade in the United States in harvesters or grain binders, 75 per cent of the mowers and more than 50 per cent of the binder twine.

"There are only three or four manufacturers of harvesting machinery in the United States other than the International Harvester Co," the petition says. These, it is added, are comparatively small, and as their business does not embrace the entire United States, in many sections of the country the International Harvester Co. has a complete monopoly of the harvesting machinery. Considering agricultural implements of every kind, other than harvesting lines, the petition declares that the output of the alleged trust amounts to more than 30 per cent of the whole.

The Government contends that the corporation has eliminated competition by getting control of a great majority of the retail implement dealers in the United States, who are made their exclusive selling agents.

Retail Control Alleged.

The petition says: "The opportunities for any new competitors are constantly being closed by the defendants in all lines of agricultural implements, the agency for distribution, the retail implement dealers and others are rapidly coming under their undisputed control, and unless prevented and restrained, their complete unchallenged dominion of every branch of trade and commerce in agricultural implements of all kinds may be confidently expected at an early date."

The Government charges that the defendants have absorbed competing companies, but concealed their ownership, permitting them to be advertised as "wholly independent and without connection with them, 'the trust,' or any 'combination,' intending thereby to mislead, deceive and defraud the public and more effectually hinder existing competitors and keep out new ones."

The bill charges the defendants have: "Resorted to unfair trade methods.

"Made inaccurate and misleading statements concerning rival machines or concerning the credit of competitors.

"By misrepresentations sought to induce competitors' agents and dealers to abandon them.

"In divers unfair ways have endeavored to destroy them, and for the purpose of destructive competition have reduced prices of their machines in some localities below cost of production and distribution, while keeping prices up in other localities.

"Systematically bought up patents upon harvesting machinery, tools and implements and acquired all new inventions therein in order thereby more effectually to perpetuate the combination and monopoly."

The following corporations and individuals are mentioned as defendants in the petition:

International Harvester Co., Interna-

TREASURY SURPLUS MAKES FREE GOLF LINKS POSSIBLE

Taussig Leaves Matter to Davis and the Commissioner Wants the Course.

The discovery that St. Louis has a surplus of $1,086,000, which will be available for appropriations for the coming year, as shown by Auditor Hodges' report, was pleasant news for many city officials.

Park Commissioner Davis was especially pleased because of the promise that there would now be money available to establish a free golf course in Forest Park, as suggested by the Post-Dispatch.

Comptroller Taussig was asked whether he believed the surplus large enough to justify putting an appropriation for the free links into the annual budget.

Money for Links.

"There will be money available for that purpose if Park Commissioner Davis thinks the links sufficiently important," he said.

When this was repeated to Davis he smiled broadly. "I certainly do think them important," he exclaimed. "If the Comptroller leaves it to me the golf links are assured."

Comptroller Taussig says he expects the Ways and Means committees of the Council and House of Delegates to consider estimates for the coming year's appropriations next Monday.

"There will be sufficient money to set aside about $150,000 more than last year for the operating expenses of the eleemosynary institutions and enough to materially increase the appropriations for all city departments," Taussig said.

Will Be Shaded Down.

"I understand the departments will ask for about $1,500,000, but that will have to be shaded down a little."

The requests of various departments for additional automobiles will be the last one taken up, Taussig says. If there is enough money left after making other necessary appropriations the automobiles will be provided.

Asked if there would be an appropriation for municipal hauling of ashes, the Comptroller said he could not give a definite answer.

"That would come under the head of Street Department appropriations," he said, "and there is a chance that it will be available."

Ash Hauling Cost.

Street Commissioner Travilla said there might be money available for hauling ashes, but that he would not use funds for that purpose at the expense of necessary bridge building, paving and street repairs. It is estimated that municipal ash hauling would cost $175,000 a year. An ordinance requiring the city to haul ashes was passed more than two years ago, but money for that purpose has never been appropriated.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH YEAR AGO, DIES BY GAS

Miss Cynthia A. Hungate Asphyxiated at Home of Sister, Mrs. H. T. Ashbaugh.

Miss Cynthia A. Hungate, aged 39, a stenographer of Blair, Neb., who has been a guest for a year at the home of her sister, Mrs. Homer T. Ashbaugh, 4142 Shenandoah avenue, was found dead in her room by Mrs. Ashbaugh, Tuesday morning. A gas jet was open and she had been asphyxiated. Dr. W. L. Johnson said she had been dead for some time.

Ashbaugh, her brother-in-law, told the police that she had suffered from spells of melancholy since she was hurt in an automobile accident in her home town last year. When she retired at 10:45 p. m. Monday, he said, she appeared to be in good spirits. Word of her death was sent to her father in Nebraska.

WHEN TITANIC WAS ORDERED NO LIMIT WAS PUT ON COST

She Was Not to Be a Speed Boat, but Was to Be Biggest and Finest Afloat—Sister Ship Is Building.

Admiralty Court Summons for Ismay Obtained by Widow of Astor's Valet, Who Will Bring Suit.

Mysterious Message Advising White Star of Loss Early Monday Being Traced by Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Senate investigation into the wreck of the Titanic entered its final stages today. J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine, owners of the lost liner, was recalled to the witness stand and put through a rigid searching examination by Senator Smith.

Ismay indignantly denied that he or any representative of his company had attempted to reinsure the Titanic between the time she went down and the hour the real news of the disaster became public. He asserted that a wireless message which he directed to Vice-President Franklin from the Carpathia on Monday morning, April 15, did not reach that official until Wednesday, the 17th.

Ismay said the Titanic was not a "speed boat," but had been constructed under orders given by him to make her the biggest and best equipped vessel afloat. No cost limit had been set.

Senator Burton announced that he had examined Fourth Officer Boxhall late last night and had learned from him that J. W. Andrews, builder of the Titanic, who went down with the ship, told Capt. Smith after the collision that the boat would sink within an hour.

Andrews had gone over the ship immediately after the crash and discovered that her hull had been ripped open.

Before reaching the Senate hearing this morning, Ismay and four officers of the Titanic were summoned to appear before an admiralty court commissioner late today to give testimony to be used in a contemplated damage suit to be brought against the White Star Line by Mrs. Louise Robins of New York for the loss of her husband, who was J. J. Astor's valet.

Tells of Mysterious Message.

A charge was made to the committee today that the White Star Line officials had positive news of the disaster between the hours of 7 and 8 on the morning following the accident, but suppressed the news until 12 hours later. The information was given by [illegible] Dunn, a New York business man, who said he in turn got his information in New York from the son of a Western Union employe.

Dunn refused to give his informant's name, was promptly given over to the sergeant-at-arms and spent several hours using the long distance telephone to New York in an effort to be absolved from his pledge of secrecy.

Vice-president Franklin of the White Star Line suggested the committee call on the telegraph company for the message and said he wanted the committee to have every wireless message, cablegram or telegram bearing on the disaster.

"We want this matter sifted to the bottom," said he.

When Ismay took the stand Senator Smith asked him what was the number of his stateroom on the Titanic.

"I think it was 58 on 'E' Deck."

Q. How long have you been manager of the International Mercantile Marine?

A. Since 1904.

Q. What are your duties? A. General control of the International Mercantile Marine.

Q. And its constituent companies?

A. Yes, with the exception of the Leyland Line. That company has its own management and directors, but we control the stock.

Q. The steamship Californian is one of the ships of the Leyland Line? A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Ismay said that the value of the various lines aggregated about [illegible] tons. He added that the [illegible] of the company [illegible]

CABLE SHIP BEARS 190 TITANIC DEAD, 116 BURIED AT SEA

Bodies of Two Women and That of Col. Astor Are Among Those Brought In.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 30.—While the city's church bells tolled and British flags fluttered at half-mast, the cable ship Mackay-Bennett steamed slowly into Halifax Harbor this morning, bearing the dead picked up from the sea where the White Star liner Titanic sank.

It was announced that the total number of bodies on board was 190, and it had been found necessary to bury 116 at sea. Among those brought to port are the bodies of two women.

Only 18 bodies of women were found afloat. The exact number of identified among the 190 brought here Capt. Larnder preferred to leave a statement to be issued by the White Star authorities.

Col. Astor's body was brought off the ship and taken with others to the morgue.

As soon as the ship was sighted down the harbor the canvas curtains shielding the coffins and embalmers' tents on the pier was lowered and 20 sailors from the Canadian cruiser Niobe lined up as a guard. A patrol boat was stationed in front of the pier to prevent any craft docking in the vicinity.

Coffins Stacked on Deck.

Her own flag at halfmast, the death ship docked slowly. Her crew manned the rails with bared heads, and on the after deck were stacked the coffins with the dead.

Members of the crew, talking over the side, said that every body picked up had been in a life belt, and there were no bullet holes in any. Many uncoffined dead lay on the forward deck, covered with tarpaulins. As the undertakers came aboard it was decided to take off these bodies first.

Capt. Richard Roberts, seeking Col. Astor's body, after a conference with Commander Lardner of the Mackay-Bennett, said there was no doubt that the identification of Col. Astor's body was correct, in the pockets $2500 cash was found.

The body identified as that of George B. Widener of Philadelphia was so mutilated that Capt. Lardner could not say positively whether it was that of Mr. Widener or his valet. This body was buried at sea.

It was predicted that the work of unloading would take perhaps all day. As fast as the bodies were put on the pier they were placed in wagons and taken up the hill to a curling rink, where they will be prepared for inspection.

Fifty Unco'ffined Bodies.

White Star Line officials had boarded the ship down the harbor, and they superintended the arrangements for docking.

The first body removed was that of a seaman. When the tarpaulin was thrown back more than 50 bodies were disclosed. Men with stretchers quickly came on board, and the work of removal was begun.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

ships and property necessary to their conduct.

Officers on Initial Trip.

"Was any officers of your company on the trial trip of the Titanic?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir. Mr. Sanderson, general manager and a director of the White Star Line, and also Mr. Greenfelt, another director." The witness said that none of the company's ships was in the British Naval Reserve. He told of mail contracts with the British Government, but denied that there was anything in the contract calling for high speed.

"Is there any minimum speed?"

"Yes, I think that we are not allowed to put mails on a ship that makes less than 16 knots an hour," Mr. Ismay replied.

Mail Bounty Small.

Senator Smith questioned the witness at length as to the details of the mail contracts. The witness declared that the mail bounty was so small that in itself "would not induce anyone to build big ships."

"How many ships has your company lost since you have been managing director?" asked Senator Smith.

"The only ones that I can remember are the Republic, the Naronic and the Titanic," said the witness, who added that the fate of the Naronic never had been cleared up.

"Can you give the committee what you expected to earn, gross and net, with the Titanic?" the witness was asked.

"We never figured it out."

Ships Ordered Years Before.

Senator Smith asked if a limit of cost had been placed on the building of the Titanic.

"None whatever," said Mr. Ismay. "The builders are given carte blanche. They go ahead and build on their own plan as passed upon by us and when the ship is completed they add on their percentage of profit, which we pay. In building a ship you begin its construction four or five years before you need her."

"Who of your company directed the Harland & Wolff Company to build the Titanic?" asked Senator Smith.

"I did, sir."

"What did you say to them when you ordered the ship?"

Titanic's Sister Ship Under Way.

"That's difficult to say. It was in a conversation with Lord Perrie. I ordered the Olympic and Titanic at the same time. I told him that we wanted the very largest and best ships possible to produce, irrespective of cost."

"Were you all over the Titanic?"

"I was never anywhere on the ship that other first class passengers did not go. I had intended to inspect her minutely but had not got to it yet."

Ismay said another sister ship to the Olympic is now being built.

Asked as to the provisions for safety taken in building the Titanic, Mr. Ismay said that while there were no longitudinal bulkheads, the vessel had a double bottom.

"It was the desire," he said, "to have the ship that would float with her two longest watertight compartments crushed and full of water."

Known of No Insurance Scandal.

Ismay said that if the Titanic had hit the iceberg bow-on it might not have sunk. Although the Titanic had been built for the North Atlantic trade it had not been constructed with especial reference to the strengthening of the bow.

Senator Smith asked the cost of the vessel.

"About $7,500,000, sir," said the witness, who added that it was insured for $5,000,000.

"Do you know of any attempt to increase the insurance on Monday, April 15?"

"I can't imagine anyone connected with the company attempting such a dishonorable act," said Ismay with emphasis. He added with equal emphasis that he had made no such attempt and no one connected with him or his company had made the effort so far as he knew.

"Did you communicate with London or New York about the sinking of the ship?"

"Yes, on Monday morning, shortly after I got on the Carpathia, the Captain asked me if I did not think I ought to send a message about the sinking of the Titanic. I said yes, and wrote a short message to Mr. Franklin, in New York. I showed it to the Captain and said: 'That is about all I can say.' He took it away and sent it. That was Monday morning, April 15. Mr. Franklin never got it until April 17. In that message I said: 'Deeply regret advise you Titanic sank this morning after collision with an iceberg. Great loss of life. Further particulars later.'"

Tribute to Capt. Smith.

Ismay then was asked about the speed of the Titanic on the trip from Southampton. He said he thought the revolutions had been worked up to 75, but he was not sure.

"The engines were built for 78 revolutions," he said.

"How many knots would that be?"

"I heard one gentleman say on the stand that she would make 25 knots. I want to say that all ever expected of the Titanic was that she would make the same speed as the Olympic. We never intended she should be faster. We had planned to have the Titanic go faster on Monday that she did on Sunday."

He said that he heard no reports from the captain or anyone else after the accident concerning the extent of the damage. He said he went to Capt Smith and asked him. The officer replied that he thought it "was serious."

"Did you hear any alarm given, calling the passengers on deck?" he was asked.

"No, sir."

Capt. Smith, he said, was selected to command because of his experience and his fine character.

"He was looked upon as our senior commander," said Ismay. "He had an exceptionally clean record, one that few captains on the Atlantic have."

He added that Capt. Smith had had no accidents until last year—when the Olympic collided with the British cruiser Hawke.

Ismay paid an equally high tribute to Chief Engineer Bell of the Titanic. Neither he nor any of the assistant engineers were saved, he added.

"How did it happen that the Titanic had only 20 lifeboats?" asked Senator Smith.

Favors More Lifeboats.

"That was a matter for the builder, sir; and I suppose that it met with the requirements of the British Board of Trade," replied Ismay. "Otherwise the ship never would have left port."

"In view of this experience you have just gone through, do you not think it would be better to have the number of lifeboats required on ships based on passenger capacity instead of tonnage?"

"I think," said Ismay, "in view of the catastrophe, that the whole question of life-saving appliances and devices should be carefully gone into to determine just what should be done."

"If the Titanic had carried double or treble the number of lifeboats, would there not have been more lives saved?" asked Senator Smith.

"Undoubtedly."

"Are you willing to admit that you are in favor of so increasing the number?"

"Perfectly."

"I have given instructions that none of our ships shall leave port without boats sufficient to care for all the passengers," said Mr. Ismay. "In increasing the number of lifeboats we probably shall have to make changes in the construction of the ships. As it is now we will have to cut down the number of passengers."

"Can you make any suggestions as to strengthening the water-tight compartments?" was asked.

"No, that is for the engineers."

"When you left the ship," Senator Smith continued, "I believe you said it was on the last collapsible boat on the starboard side?"

"Yes."

"Was it full?"

"No, not quite—I think there were about 40 women in it."

Mr. Ismay said he did not see the steamer Californian.

What He Did on Carpathia.

Senator Smith asked Mr. Ismay what he did aboard the Carpathia.

"I understand that my conduct on board the Carpathia has been severely criticized," replied Ismay. "I court the fullest inquiry at the hands of the committee. The facts in the case are these:

"When I went aboard I was standing with my back against a bulkhead, when someone came to me and said: 'Go into the saloon and have a bite of something hot or a drink.' He repeated it twice, but I told him I would be happier if I could get off by myself. He took me by the arm and led me to a room, which proved to be the doctor's room. I was not out of there until the Carpathia docked I was ill and ate no solid food on the run into New York.

"Right here I want to say that the doctor did not occupy a suite. He had one room in which he slept. He did not occupy it the first night I was in it. He was busy with the Titanic's survivors, but he dressed there.

"Mr. Jack Thayer was brought into the room the morning we got on the Carpathia. He was there some time. The doctor did not have a suite of apartments on the ship. He had this one small room, which he slept and dressed in. People were coming and going through this room all the time."

INVENTOR OF FRUIT JAR AND FOUNDER OF UNION WHO IS DEAD

OLD-TIME GLASS BLOWER, FRUIT JAR INVENTOR, IS DEAD

The funeral Thursday afternoon of John Samuel, who died Sunday at Woodlawn, Ill., at the age of 95, will be directed by Glass Bottle Blowers' Union No. 5. Samuel was founder and first president of this union in America. The services will take place at the Wacker undertaking rooms, 2331 South Broadway.

In his years of work in St. Louis Samuel made many friends who liked to visit him at Woodlawn in the home of an old companion, which became his refuge when he retired 10 years ago. He was fond of telling them how he was the inventor of the Mason fruit jar, an article to be found in almost every home in the land.

He had been working at his trade as bottle blower, he was wont to say, when he got to wondering why a jar that could be sealed hermetically had never been invented. In a few days he got the idea of the Mason jar and worked it out.

He declared that while he knew he had invented a good thing, he underestimated its real importance and sold his rights to manufacturers for $5000. He never expressed regret over his failure to retain royalty rights which would have made him a rich man.

Samuel was born Feb. 3, 1817, in Swansea, Wales. He came to America when a child. For years he worked as a glassblower in Philadelphia and it was there, in 1842, he founded the first union, of which he was made president. He served in the Federal army in the Civil War. Thirty years ago he came to St. Louis. He worked at his trade here for 20 years.

His only surviving relatives, so far as his friends know, are a son and daughter in Philadelphia. The son, it is said, is principal of a high school there.

REPORT ON FREE BRIDGE PROMISED BY EILERS MAY 7

Chairman Intimates Approach Extending Beyond East St. Louis Will Be Favored.

RAILROADS TO USE IT

Asserts Three Have Promised and That Other Terminal Concerns Are Willing.

Chairman Roy Eilers of the Joint Free Bridge Committee of the Municipal Assembly told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday that the committee probably would make its long-deferred report May 7.

He intimated this report would indorse an approach with extensions beyond the city limits of East St. Louis; that it would show that three railroads had promised to use the bridge, if all arrangements can be made, and that several terminal companies have said they would use it if they could get terminal facilities on this side of the river.

Eilers' statement was made in reply to a question as to what his committee was going to do about a letter just written to Mayor Kreismann by Chairman Ralston of the Free Bridge Committee of the Associated Retail Dealers of St. Louis. This letter called attention to the expense of the free bridge delay, charged the Assembly committee with holding up its report unnecessarily and asked what could be done to relieve the situation.

Asked About Promise.

When this letter was shown to Eilers, he was asked if his committee was going to fulfill a promise it had made to Speaker Sommerich of the House of Delegates, that it would report by May 1.

"We are going to hold a special meeting of the committee Saturday night," Eilers replied, after a moment of hesitation. "It looks as if we shall be ready to report by next Tuesday night. The committee will report three trunk railroad lines willing to use the bridge, two of which have terminals now in East St. Louis and the third is building towards East St. Louis."

He indicated that one of the three lines is about to be absorbed by another system. But he refused to name any of the companies. In order to negotiate with the railroads the committee had promised secrecy, he explained, and that made the companies willing to "throw their cards on the table."

Declines to Reveal Approach.

He declined to answer a question as to whether the approach to be endorsed would be the Reber approach with an extension of 1200 feet that would take it outside the limits of East St. Louis. This is the kind of approach favored by the associated retailers.

One of the roads to come in is already laying plans for a passenger station in St. Louis, Eilers said. It has not been decided whether this station will be east of Broadway or whether the line will try to build elevated tracks over the Terminal Association tracks to Mill Creek Valley, with a downtown station. He said that several of the roads are talking of building freight stations in St. Louis.

Eilers declared he had spent $400 of his own money in trips to confer with railroad heads about the free bridge.

COLORADO FOR CLARK; SISTER A DELEGATE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 30.—The Colorado State Democratic convention adopted a resolution instructing Colorado's delegation to the national convention to support Champ Clark until he is no longer a candidate, or until released by him.

An effort to have Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey named as second choice was deefated on roll call, 616 to 272.

State Senator Thomas J. McCue of Denver was elected national committeeman over Charles F. Tew of Weld County, 685 to 325.

Mayor Robert W. Speer of Denver, who had been expected to head Colorado's delegation to Baltimore, withdrew, urging the selection of Charles F. Tew, who was chosen by acclamation.

One of the delegates from the Second district is Mrs. Anna B. Pitzer of El Paso County. Mrs. Pitzer is a sister of Champ Clark.

New Tuberculosis Remedy Based on Medicine

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alterative we have a medicine that has been the means of saving many a life to years of usefulness, and in permanently curing a large number of Consumptives.

Certainly a person afflicted with a wasting disease should be well fed with wholesome, nourishing food, but frequently raw eggs in quantities cause a digestive breakdown, and then no food nourishes. As for milk, a very good food for many, but a producer of biliousness for some.

Any diet that keeps a Consumptive well nourished is the right one, but what is going to cure the patient?—Eckman's Alterative has cured and is curing many a case of Consumption. Let those speak who know. Here is a specimen:

"Gentlemen: On June 1, 1907, I was operated upon for Tubercular peritonitis at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, N. Y. After the operation my physician gave me up as hopeless. I was then urged by a friend to take Eckman's Alterative, which did. My weight at the time was 73 lbs. I began to improve and steadily gained in health and strength, now weigh 130 lbs., and am absolutely cured. Believing I owe it to myself and others I make this statement."

(Signed Affidavit) EDNA FINEER.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system, does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Sold by Sebastian Drug Co., Weiss-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet or send name and address to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

THREE LEADING FIGURES IN FAMOUS WATER CURE SUIT

Water Doctor in a Contest of Wit With Bakewell

see yet," retorted Miss Davis.

Bakewell and Smith both laughed so loudly that Justice Kreuger had to rap for order. Bakewell then took the witness stand, and started to testify that Miss Davis had called to see him to try to induce him to let his wife continue the treatment, and that he objected because she was under the care of the family physician. Attorney Edgar Belding, representing Miss Davis, objected, saying that Bakewell was not a competent witness for his wife.

"That's right," said Smith, "you are not a competent witness. You take my place as a lawyer and I'll take yours as a witness."

Lawyer a Witness.

Smith and Bakewell shifted position, and Smith, under examination by Bakewell, testified that Miss Davis called on him and requested him to use his influence with Mrs. Bakewell to get her to continue the treatment.

"She told me that Mrs. Bakewell had agreed to take 10 treatments, and that she had given her a double treatment at the Planters Hotel—"

"I didn't use the word treatment," burst out Miss Davis.

"I am testifying," said Smith. "She said Mrs. Bakewell was in bad shape, and needed the treatment."

"I say I didn't use the word treatment," Miss Davis broke in again.

"She said that Mrs. Bakewell would be a changed woman if she would take the treatment."

"Did she not tell you," asked Bakewell, "that she could cure Mrs. Bakewell of nervousness?"

Cure Not Mentioned.

"I don't think she told me that she could cure her."

On cross-examination, Smith said that as soon as Miss Davis left his office he telephoned Bakewell that he had procured enough evidence from Miss Davis to convict her of practicing medicine without a license if he wished to proceed against her. Afterward Mrs. Bakewell did make complaint against Miss Davis, resulting in a warrant being issued for her arrest.

Smith testified that Miss Davis also went to see his wife and tried to get her to use her influence with Mrs. Bakewell to continue the treatment. This statement resulted in Miss Davis being recalled to the witness stand. She testified that Mrs. Bakewell was sent to her by Mrs. Smith, whose cousin had taken a course of instructions. Smith went back to the stand and said that Miss Davis had threatened to have his wife subpenaed as a witness.

Telegrams in Evidence.

Telegrams that Miss Davis sent to Sutter while he was in New York waiting to take passage for South America, were offered in evidence. These were telegrams demanding the payment of his bill, amounting to $500. In one of the telegrams she used the word "treatment."

Sutter was offered as a witness to testify that she had given him treatments and not instructions. Justice Kreuger ruled his testimony out, and also the telegrams. Miss Davis has also filed suit against Sutter for the balance of her claim.

On being called to the witness stand a third time, Miss Davis testified that Sutter was "made a new man" by taking her course of water-cure instruction.

Promises Health.

"And I have students who have taken my course who wouldn't give their health for all of Mrs. Bakewell's millions," she added with a stamp of the foot. "People who know how to use water have what money cannot always buy—good health. I gave Mrs. Bakewell the fundamental principles of my system, and she knows all of its secrets, and if she will use the system she will keep well."

Justice Kreuger asked why it was that Mrs. Bakewell was not in court to testify relative to the contract for the instruction or treatment. It was then that Bakewell explained that she was in the dentist's chair.

MORE NOVELTIES AT CIRCUS THIS YEAR

Joan of Arc Is the Leading Spectacle of the Big Show in Town.

Several attractions, which command attention even from experienced circus goers, are with Ringland Brothers' Circus, which is playing a week's engagement at Handlan Park, Grand and Laclede avenues. The first and greatest is the Joan of Arc spectacle, in which 1200 persons take part. Although at a slight disadvantage in the setting of a circus tent, it nevertheless is an interesting exhibition.

One of the newest thrillers in the line of aerial performances is a triple somersault from a trapeze to the hands of another performer in a second trapeze. This act is presented by the Clarksonians.

A trained horse act, in which three horses do some astonishing feats, is a favorite with the children and gets its full share of consideration from the older folks. It is an act that has not been seen in this country until this spring.

A young chimpanzee and a young gorilla are the centers of interest in the menagerie. They are highly susceptible to climatic changes and their cages, surrounded by glass, are supplied with artificial heat when the outer temperature is low. The menagerie is large and interesting.

The circus gives performances at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. It will be here till Sunday.

Gen. Grant's Will Filed.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The will of the late Major General Frederick Dent Grant, U. S. A., filed in the Surrogate's office, leaves his entire estate to his widow, Ida Honore Grant. The will was executed at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., Aug. 28, 1903.

5 YEARS IN PRISON, $2000 FINES, FOR 2 'HABITINA' MAKERS

Appeal Bond Is Fixed at $7000 for Each Defendant in Case.

Dr. R. C. Prewitt and Ryland C. Bruce, proprietors of the Delta Chemical Co., manufacturers of a drug sold under the name "Habitina" were found guilty in the United States District Court Monday on charges of sending poisons through the mails and using the mails to defraud.

Judge Dyer imposed the maximum penalty on each defendant for each count. For sending poison through the mails they are fined $1000 each and sentenced to serve two years in the Leavenworth Penitentiary. For using the mails to defraud they are fined $1000 each and sentenced to serve five years. The prison sentences are to be concurrent, so that they will serve only five years.

The appeal bond was fixed at $7000 for each defendant.

It was proven that Habitina, advertised as a morphine habit cure, contained morphine, heroin and caffeine, three dangerous habit-forming drugs.

The maximum penalty is two years for sending the preparation through the mails and five years for using the mails to defraud. Chester H. Krum, attorney for the defendants filed notice of an appeal.

WANTS TO CHANGE NAME

A petition by Frank Grafeman asks the Circuit Court to permit him to change his first name to that of his father, William Grafeman of 2711 North Grand avenue, president of the Grafeman Dairy Co., and to be known as William Grafeman Jr. He is 20 years old.

He says he wished to be named for his father because of the love he has for him, and also because there are several other Frank Grafemans in the city, thereby causing a confusion in mail and in business and social affairs.

HARVESTER TRADE TO BE UNHINDERED, TRUST HEAD SAYS

Cyrus H. McCormick Thinks Federal Action Will Not Interfere With Company's Trade.

DEFENDS HIS CONCERN

Asserts It Has Saved Money for Farmers and Built Up Big Foreign Trade.

CHICAGO, April 30.—In regard to the suit filed today at St. Paul by the Government against the International Harvester Co., Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the Harvester Co., said in part:

"The International Harvester Co. was organized in 1902 for the purpose of securing economy in the manufacture and sale of harvesting machinery, and of increasing the foreign trade. It had no water in its capitalization, and it has earned only a reasonable return on its capital, less than 7 per cent per annum on the average. The prices of its machines are now substantially the same as in 1902, notwithstanding an increase of 15 per cent in raw material prices and 30 per cent in wages. The company has caused a large saving to American farmers and has increased the foreign trade in agricultural implements four fold in nine years. It has not sold cheaper abroad than at home.

"The charges of misconduct found in the bill have been met and disproved by the company in other cases, and they will fail again, because they are untrue.

"More than six years ago the company asked for its investigation by the United States Government, and opened all its books and records for inspection and furnished all information requested. No suggestion of any change in its business methods has been made to it by the Government at any time.

"The Government has been careful to avoid embarrassment to the foreign business from the litigation; the bill makes no attack on, and seeks no change in, the export business of the company. The filing of the bill will in no way interfere with the company's carrying on its business the same as heretofore."

Government Sues To Dissolve Great Harvester Trust

tional Harvester Co. of America, International Flax Twine Co., the Wisconsin Steel Co., the Wisconsin Lumber Co., Illinois Northern Railway, the Chicago, West Pullman & Southern Railroad Co.; Cyrus H. McCormick, Charles Deering, James Deering, John J. Glessner, William H. Jones, Harold F. McCormick, Richard P. Howe, Edgar A. Bancroft, George A. Baker, William J. Louderback, Norman B. Ream, Charles Steele, John A. Chapman, Elbert H. Gary, Thomas D. Jones, John P. Wilson, William L. Saunders, George W. Perkins.

The prosecution of the case will be directed by Edwin P. Grosvenor, special assistant to the Attorney-General, who had charge of the "Bath Tub Trust" cases. In addition to Grosvenor, the petition is signed by Attorney-General Wickersham, J. A. Fowler, assistant to the Attorney-General, and Charles C. Houpt, United States District Attorney at St. Paul.

"In many states," the petition declares, "the farmers' expenditures for harvesting machinery and twine aggregate considerably more than 50 per cent of the total expense incurred by him in purchasing agricultural machinery and implements of all kinds."

The International Harvester Co. was organized in New Jersey in 1902. Prior to that time, the Government declares, there were 10 or 12 establishments for the manufacture and sale of harvesting implements in active competition with each other.

How Trust Was Formed.

The alleged trust was formed through the combination of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Co. of Illinois, the Deering company of Illinois, the Plano Manufacturing Co. of Illinois, Warder, Bushnell & Glessner Co. of Ohio and the Milwaukee Harvester Co. The aggregate annual output of these five concerns, it is said, amounted to more than 85 per cent of all the harvesting machinery and 50 per cent of all the binder twine produced and sold in the United States at that time.

In organizing the International Harvester Co., the defendants were actuated, the petition declares, by a determination to get control of interstate commerce in harvesting machinery and twine and also to expand into other classes of agricultural machinery with a purpose of monopoly. The company was incorporated in New Jersey with a capital stock originally of $120,000,000. The control of the capital stock was placed in the hands of three trustees—Cyrus H. McCormick, Charles Deering and George W. Perkins—who issued stock trust certificates to the persons actually owning the stock.

In explaining the disposition of the stock, the petition says that $3,451,803 was issued to J. P. Morgan & Co. for underwriting services and legal expenses and $3,148,197 to the same firm in reimbursements for the cash expended to get the property of the Milwaukee Harvester Co.

The absorbed Milwaukee Harvester Co. was converted into the International Harvester Co. of America, through which the alleged trust sells exclusively its entire output in the United States.

"The International Harvester Co. of America is merely the selling agency of the other International company," continues the petition. "Since its acquisition by the International Harvester Co. it has paid no dividends upon its capital stock, $1,000,000.

Mere Bookkeeping Concern.

"It buys and sells at prices fixed by the parent company. In fact, the Wisconsin company is a bookkeeping arrangement, given the form of a corporate entity, with a small capitalization for the purpose of enabling the larger company to do business in states from which it is debarred by reason of its huge capitalization.

"The arrangement between the International Harvester Co. and the International Harvester Co. of America was further devised and is now being carried out by the defendants for the purpose of giving to the New Jersey company the appearance of not being engaged in interstate commerce; in other words, in order to accomplish an ostensible segregation of the manufacturing or interstate business of the corporation from its distributing or interstate business, thereby securing to the latter protection against the laws of the several states which have for their object the suppression of monopolies or their exclusion from their borders."

The petition asks that this company be decreed an unlawful organization in restraint of trade.

To illustrate the expansion of the Harvester company into all lines of agricultural implements, the petition says that in the beginning the company manufactured only harvesters or binders, mowers, reapers, rakes, twine, corn huskers, shredders and shockers; today it has spread to include tillage and seeding implements, threshing machinery, wagons, manure spreaders, gasoline engines, cream separators, auto buggies, automobiles, tractors, cultivators, drills, seeders, hay loaders and hay presses.

Complaint in Printed Form.

The petition was filed by Assistant District Attorney J. Mack Dickey, who appeared in the absence of District Attorney Charles S. Houpt. Houpt has been in Washington conferring with the Department of Justice concerning the suit.

The filing of the suit was the work of only a few minutes. Dickey, with the petition in printed form, which had reached him from Washington the night before, walked into court and handed the document to the clerk. The clerk promptly stamped it and placed it on file. No counsel was present for the Harvester company.

Trial of Harvester Case to Be Expedited.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The prosecution of the Harvester suit, it was declared at the Department of Justice today, will be expedited as much as possible.

Because of the importance of the issue, Attorney-General Wickersham will file a certificate of expedition, the effect of which will be to remove the case from the District Court of Minnesota to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit. This eliminates the District Court, and to that extent hastens the issue on to the Supreme Court, where it is generally conceded the case will be finally determined.

The earliest possible date at which the case can come to issue before Judges Sanborn, Hook, Adams and Smith, comprising the Eighth Circuit, is about Aug. 5.

China Boy at Picture Show Sees Fat Man Cling to Job

From Our China Boy Reporter

NANKING, China.

I HAVE gone with nice young lady named Min to see moving picture show of which I shall tell you. Picture is all about very fat man which got nice job on recommendation letter from man which had job before.

NICE comfortable chair and all many Pullman cars and guinea hen dinners went with this job.

All was fine for fat man. Everywhere he went he had box seat for ball game and letter carrier band played "Hail to the Chief." Then scene changed to show man who had job before the fat man. He is in editor's office shooting articles on a typewriter. This is new way for writing and makes very fine moving picture. Typewriter hangs against the wall. Eminent editor for the Lookout sits at desk with revolver gun in each hand and shoots at typewriter keys. Is quiet, peaceful occupation which keeps him from doing something worse.

Pretty soon time comes to see whether fat man shall hold job for four more years. Editorial shooter throws his hat in the ring and says he wants job back.

Fat man looks like he is full of pain and surprise and nicleodeon piano plays "Please Go 'Way and Let Me Sleep."

This makes typewriter shooter very angry.

Last scene is best of all.

Is much confusion in editor's office. All other editors and copy boys run away to hide while man who used to have job and wants it some more runs in with gatling gun and turns it on typewriter. This is what he shoots:

"IS VERY BAD TRAIT TO BITE HAND WHICH FEEDS YOU."

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headeache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

TAFT ADVOCATES ONE-TERM LIMIT FOR PRESIDENTS

Executive Would Make It Four or Six Years and Avoid Need of Taking Stump.

230,000 PERSONS GREET HIM

Friends Confident of Outcome of Primary Voting in Massachusetts Tuesday.

"I Was Man of Straw," President Admits

CONDEMN me if you will, but condemn me by other witnesses than Theodore Roosevelt. I was a man of straw, but I have been a man of straw long enough; every man who has blood in his body and who has been misrepresented as I have been, is forced to fight. I appeal to my friends in Massachusetts, who, I think, believe in a square deal.—President Taft, in speech in Lowell, Mass.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, April 30.—President Taft's extraordinary invasion of the State to head off Col. Roosevelt—to whom the President referred for the first time as his "antagonist"—is believed by his friends to have made victory for him sure today.

The President seemed to think so, too. He said just before he boarded the train which was to bear him to the national capital that he was "very much gratified over the cordial reception accorded and the manifestations of popular approval."

Whatever reluctance the President evinced and voiced at being compelled to attack Col. Roosevelt disappeared as his day of action progressed. In his last speech at Lowell, he smashed direct, disregarding the address he had delivered earlier in the day at the other points visited. He appealed directly to the 1500 crowded in the opera house there for their votes and for "a square deal." He told them with engaging frankness and in a threadbare voice that he had "been a man of straw long enough" and that he was now full of fight.

Favors One-Term Limit.

He further said that he thought it would be a good thing to amend the Constitution, limiting the term of President to four or six years, and preventing him from getting a second nomination. "Then," he said in explanation, "it would not be necessary for the President to take the stump to make campaign speeches to defend himself from such gross and unjust misrepresentation as I have been the victim of."

In his trip through the State the President was welcomed by crowds at 10 stopping places, aggregating 230,000 persons. He covered much of the same ground as that traversed by Col. Roosevelt. At times the two "antagonists" were only an hour or two apart, and for more than two hours within 15 miles of each other.

The receptions accorded the President in each place were declared to have been more enthusiastic than those given to the Colonel, and the crowds larger. There were several good reasons for the difference perhaps. The arrangements for the President were superior. He was accorded official courtesy on every hand. Local companies of State military turned out in his honer. In many of the towns the mill hands were given a holiday. In some instances the school children had a half day's leisure.

Job Holders Are Busy.

The Federal officeholders were on their jobs, and worked up a popular outpouring by every device known by the politician. The President was assured by these many times during the day that the Massachusetts voters of the Republican faith, would "snow Roosevelt under." And the voters of Lowell bellowed a promise to "take care of him" again, meaning the Colonel. That was after they had charged the Colonel was a "liar" for having charged that only the bosses were in favor of the President.

The latter, unusually quick to seize the opportunity, retorted: "That word has no place in my vocabulary. My service on the bench taught me the value of appreciating the meaning of words. I leave that word for my antagonist, preferring to stand by the established facts and the proof."

At Brockton, where the President made the most pretentious speech of the day, and which was typical of those which came before and followed, a crowd of 60,000 persons jammed the streets and city theater. Col. Roosevelt, who spoke there on Saturday, was greatly pleased because 15,000 people welcomed him at Brockton.

Colonel Replies Often to Taft.

"If you vote for Mr. Taft, you vote for these men," said Col. Roosevelt in many of his speeches, after referring to Senators Lorimer, Penrose, Gallinger and Guggenheim. He declared that the President had practically nothing in his campaign back of him, outside of two or three states, except the support he received from those men "and their like, and from the great sinister special interests, which stand behind these bosses."

Col. Roosevelt devoted a large part of his speech to the things President Taft had been saying at the other end of the State, getting frequent telegraphic reports of the President's speeches, and in this long-distance debate he denied the President's charge that the Colonel was stirring up class hatred as "arrant nonsense."

"If Mr. Taft's policy of flabby indecision and of helpless acquiescence in the wrong-doing of the crooked boss and the crooked is permitted to continue," he continued, "there will really grow up class hatred in this country. There will grow up a very uncomfortable and very ugly feeling, discontent with political, social and industrial conditions.

"Mind you," the Colonel said, "I believe we can win this fight without Massachusetts, but I do not want Massachusetts to lag behind. I want it to be in the lead in the fight."

Roosevelt at the Outlook After Massachusetts Campaign.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Col. Roosevelt returned here this morning from his campaign in Massachusetts and spent the early part of the day at his offices. This afternoon he planned to go to his home at Oyster Bay.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Col. Roosevelt again contradicted President Taft in a statement today regarding the so-called Harvester Trust case. Col. Roosevelt said:

"I was positive that the Harvester Trust matter had been discussed in full at least once at a cabinet meeting after Mr. Taft returned. Mr. Bonaparte now sends the following telegram:

"'BALTIMORE, April 30.—Date of cabinet meeting when Harvester Trust discussed either 17 or 21, January, 1908. Probably former.

"'CHARLES J. BONAPARTE.'

"The action of Mr. Taft in this case is not compatible with even the feeblest kind of good intentions."

Taft Back in Washington, Starts to Georgia Today.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Taft returned to Washington from his campaign trip to Massachusetts shortly before 10 o'clock today. His stay in the capital will be brief, however, as he is scheduled to depart for Savannah, Ga., late this afternoon. The President will also visit Augusta, Ga., and attend memorial services there for his late aid, Maj. Archibald W. Butt.

On your next trip to Chicago take the Wabash Banner Express, which leaves Vandeventer av. 9:23 p. m., Delmar av. 9:32 p. m., Florissant av. 9:47 p. m. and avoid the long trip to Union Station.

ROYALISTS ACTIVE AGAIN

Move to Restore King to Portuguese Throne Expected.

LISBON, Portugal, April 30.—There are marked indications that the Portuguese monarchists intend to make another attempt to seize the northern provinces of Portugal, according to information received by the Government. This step is assumed to be preparatory to an effort to restore the King to the Portuguese throne.

At San Gregorio, on the frontier between Portugal and Spain, the customs officers were attacked by a body of monarchists, who captured some arms and then returned to La Ganiza, where they have established their headquarters. Similar movements are reported from other points and the Cabinet has ordered the War Ministry to dispatch reinforcements of troops to the disturbed districts.

Kansas Banks Make Big Growth.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 30.—"The 'blue sky' speculators have ceased to interest the Kansas bankers," declared J. N. Dolley, State Bank Commissioner, in giving out a statement showing that Kansas State banks gained almost $2,000,000 in deposits during the first three months of the year. "A banker who loans on 'blue sky' now is classed as a bad banker," he said.

SALARIES OF CITY EMPLOYES AND OF JUDGES HELD UP.

Two Weeks' Delay Expected, Bill for Rush Salary Appropriation Is in Assembly.

City employes are confronted by the annual holdup of salaries, due to the delay of making a salary appropriation with the closing of the fiscal year. For at least two weeks the salaries for April will not be paid, according to officials at the city hall. Before any funds can be disbursed for this purpose, the Municipal Assembly must pass a bill authorizing the appropriation.

Salaries at the city hall fall due at various times between May 1 and May 5. It is hoped by the officials that the salaries will be paid by May 15, as a skeleton bill which provides for a rush salary appropriation is now in the Assembly.

The Assembly also has under consideration another bill providing for the routine municipal appropriations. Comptroller Taussig said Tuesday he would put his appropriation bill in the hands of the Ways and Means Committee by May 6.

The delay of an appropriation affects the St. Louis Circuit judges this year for the first time. The judges receive $5500 a year, the city paying $291 a month, each, and the State the balance.

In the past the circuit clerk has been advancing the money to the judges and restoring it to his funds later when the salary appropriation was made by the Assembly. A question as to the legality of this proceeding was raised this year and as a consequence everybody employed about the courthouse must wait for the new salary appropriation. This sometimes is held up two or three months.

A Family Medicine

The honest, straightforward statement of Mr. J. J. Vahling of his wife's and his experience is convincing proof of the great merit of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Thousands of such letters are received from grateful men and women who have derived wonderful benefit from its use.

"I very cheerfully recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to everyone. I was ailing for many years, and had severe pains in my back, and weakness; but since I used this medicine I am much stronger and the pains have entirely left me. My wife had nervous trouble and headache. Now she is much better, owing to this wonderful remedy. We are thankful to you for what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done for us and we will always have it in our medicine chest."—J. J. Vahling, 1862 Menard St., St. Louis, Mo.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is one of the greatest strength builders and tonic stimulants known to medicine. It strengthens and fortifies the system and assists in building up the weakened tissues in a gradual, healthy manner. It is a wonderful remedy in the treatment of pneumonia, grip, bronchitis, coughs, colds, catarrh, malaria, low fevers, stomach troubles and all wasting and weakening conditions if taken as directed.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

All druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Be sure you get the genuine; substitutes and imitations are injurious. Medical booklet, containing rare common sense rules for health and testimonials, also doctor's advice, sent free to anyone who writes

WHY JEFF DAVIS IS ALWAYS A WINNER

Arkansans Believe Heaven Is Open to His Choice, That He Appoints Presidents.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 30.—Two good stories involving the popular idea of the invincibility of Senator Jeff Davis have come out of the recent campaign.

The late B. F. Matthews of Powhatan considered Davis all-powerful. He was discussing [illegible] Sunday Berry, when his little grandson asked:

"Grandpa, do you suppose Jeff Davis will go to Heaven?"

"I guess he will if he wants to," Matthews promptly replied.

An old citizen up at the forks of the creek could not be convinced that President McKinley had been assassinated.

"Well, maybe he has," he finally admitted. "You all ought to know, 'cause you read so much. But if he has been killed I'll bet Jeff Davis appints a good one in his place."

Foods made from Corn are specially wholesome—Corn bread, Corn muffins, Hominy, Karo syrup

THE wonderfully nutritive elements of corn have been praised by healthy American men and women for generations.

Karo has highly nutritious qualities such as are found in the old-time corn foods famed for their nourishment. It is made from the same hard, ripe kernels of Indian corn.

Karo is one of the most nutritive elements of the corn kernel turned into delicious syrup.

It is one of the best body building foods. You feel the extra strength and energy that Karo gives almost as soon as you eat it. It is easily digested and quickly absorbed.

You and the youngsters ought to eat Karo two or three times a day—on bread, griddle cakes, waffles, hot biscuit.

Karo is absolutely pure—made from the best corn—by special process—in closed receptacles—untouched by human hands—packed in air-tight tins.

Karo is as delicious as honey—as wholesome as butter—yet costs you much less than either.

Wherever sweetening is needed in cooking you'll find Karo useful.

Why not try Karo to-day? Your grocer has two kinds—Karo Crystal White—Karo Cane Flavor. You can readily tell the Karo label on the sealed cans.

LABORERS' NAMES ON BANK BOOKS TO HIDE LOOTING

Accounts Show Men to Be Busy in Stock Market, but They Deny Any Deals.

FRIENDS OF A DIRECTOR

Whenever Official Asked Them to, They Signed Whatever Papers He Presented.

NEW ORLEANS, April 30.—Closing the Teutonia Bank did not mean a suspension of employment for the attaches—far from it. Since its affairs were taken over by State Bank Examiner W. L. Young, the entire clerical force has worked an average of 18 hours a day in an effort to get together an accurate statement of assets and liabilities.

Counting the money was not difficult, for the cash on hand was but $23,259.51. The books show about $1,500,000 on deposit, but there was some padding of this list and it will be some time before the exact discrepancy will be known.

A favorite scheme seems to have been to use a dummy to borrow money. When the accountants found that Peter A. Brue owed the bank $30,000 there was immediate inquiry as to who he was.

His name was found in the city directory and he was finally discovered working hard in a lumber yard, where his pay is $15 a week. He said he did not know he owed the bank anything and his story is believed. Brue admits he sometimes signed papers which bank officials told him was merely a routine proceeding. He had no account with this bank or any other, owns no property and didn't have the price of a meal when arrested. He was not charged with any crime, but was detained as a material witness.

Merely Obliged a Friend.

Brue knew Joseph H. Gomila, a director of the bank, who has been arrested and is out on bond. Eugene F. Buhler, the president, is also under arrest. The signing of notes was done by Brue outside the bank and always at the request of Gomila. No questions were asked by the signer, who said he didn't have anything to lose and was glad to oblige a friend.

Brue is an innocent-looking young man of slight stature and with meager knowledge of business methods. He did not seem able to comprehend when told that the bank held his paper for the face value of $30,000.

The books of the bank show that Brue was a real plunger in the stock market. The records show he was always buying and selling securities, putting them up as collateral for loans and other high finance stunts while he was actually earning his living by day labor in a lumber yard.

It does not appear that he was ever given a cent nor granted a favor for his part in the work of scuttling the financial ship, and it is doubtful if he could have borrowed $2 in real money from the bank on his personal note.

Another Laborer-Speculator.

Another one of these dummies was C. D. McAvoy, who, like Brue, worked around a lumber yard for $15 a week. He was employed by the Central Manufacturing and Lumber Co., in which Gomila was interested.

McAvoy had no money when placed under bond as a material witness and never did have anything more than his weekly pay, but the accounts of the bank show it holds his notes for $22,000 and also that he had a career very similar to that of Brue. He said he never expected to pay these notes and never got the money. He merely signed them because Gomila asked him to do so.

McAvoy had an account in the bank of which he knew nothing until it failed. Then he found that while he was out in the lumber yard piling lumber in the hot sun he was juggling his mythical bank account around with much speed and cunningness, drawing checks for large amounts, receiving a lot of checks which were placed to his credit and doing an exciting business. He says that occasionally he would be given a lot of papers to sign. He always did as Gomila told him and never looked to see what the papers were.

Loss About $800,000.

How many other dummy accounts there are on the books is not known at this time and probably not until the affairs of the bank are closed will this be determined.

An estimate of the bank examiner is that the total loss will be between $750,000 and $800,000.

The charge upon which the bank officials will be prosecuted most industriously is accepting deposits when it was known the bank was insolvent.

Money was taken up to the closing hour Saturday and the bank suspended payment Monday. That the officials had ample warning appears from the statement of the bank examiner, who says the trouble dates back eight years and that the officers must have known a crash was inevitable.

"The Colonel" wears them

TIME was when Men wore Silk and Satin Clothing.

—Likewise Lace ruffles, and Feathers in their "bonnets."

But, Women now very properly preempt these effeminacies.

The time is not far off when lightweight, and Silky-finished, Leathers will also be confined to Woman's Wear,—for similar reason.

Robust Cloths — Scotch Tweed effects, Irish Homespuns, and the like, are correct expression of Masculine Style, and always will be.

In line with this, the "robust" Leathers, pliable and fine but of medium weight and masculine effect, are fast growing into favor with Men "who understand."

Observe in Show-Windows of high-priced Custom Shoe Makers how effectively that Stalwart kind of Leather is used this year,—1912.

Observe too that instead of being used with heavy, rigid, double-soles, it is now used with the choicest grades of fine-grained Single Soles.

Well,—for Spring 1912, you'll find in Regal Shoes many exact replicas of these high-grade Manlike Custom Shoes.

Note particularly a Regal range made in the new "Norse" leather.

Precisely what a real, red-blooded, American Man should wear, and feel happy in.

Cool as Kid, flexible as a Politician's Promise, and Masculine in effect as a curly Ram's horn.

This superb "Norse" leather is of a rich, mellow, tan-brown color (when it is not black).

It moulds to the last, in Shoemaking, as if it grew there, taking on every elegance of line intended by the Designer.

Moreover, it holds that Style, when once translated into it, in a wonderful way.

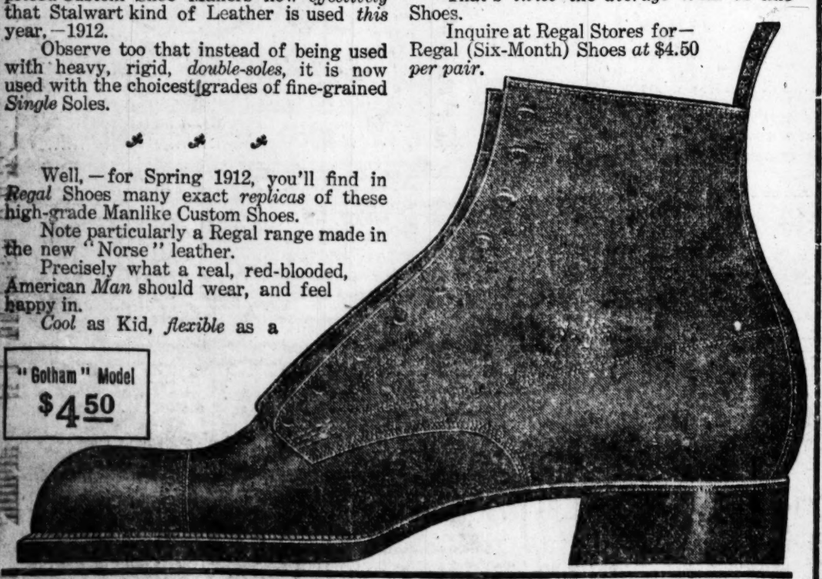

Some beautiful examples of this "Man's Leather" made into Smart Shoes may now be seen in Regal windows.

Their Style and Elegance speak for themselves.

Their Service is backed by an unequivocal "Indemnity Bond," which pledges Six Months continuous Wear without break of upper leather or Outsole.

That's twice the average Wear of fine Shoes.

MISSOURI GIRL IN GRAND OPERA IS PRAISED BY QUEEN

Miss Felice Lyne Called to Royal Box After Singing at Hammerstein's in London.

'YOUR VOICE IS BEAUTIFUL'

Kansas City Girl Tells Queen, in Answer to Question, That She Is All American.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1912, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, April 30.—Felice Lyne of Kansas City and Oscar Hammerstein had the proudest moments of their lives when King George and Queen Mary, with a large suite, visited Hammerstein's opera house and personally received the Americans. It was His Majesty's first visit to the opera house, to which he went to attend a concert in aid of the League of Mercy.

The King, accompanied by Queen May, Princess Mary and Prince Albert, was received there by Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck, Princess Victoria of Schlesswig-Holstein, the Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Farquhar and the Countess of Chesterfield.

After the ladies had been presented to their majesties, the Dowager Countess of Chesterfield introduced Hammerstein to Prince Alexander, who presented him to King George. Hatless and cigarless, Hammerstein was ashen white, but self-possessed. The King, grasping Hammerstein's hand, said:

"I am delighted with the effort you are making here today and it gives me great pleasure to come to your house."

Bending low over the royal hand, according to etiquette, Hammerstein responded: "I am indeed honored to shake hands with the King of England."

Thereupon the royal party proceeded to the royal boxes, the King and Princess May occupying one, the Queen and Prince Albert the other.

On the program was an abbreviated garden scene from "Faust," sung by four Americans—Miss Lyne, Lydia Locke, Orville Harold and Henry Weldon. At the close of the performance the Queen summoned Miss Lyne, who still was in costume as Marguerite, to the royal box, saying:

"I must compliment you upon your beautiful voice. I understand you are half American."

Miss Lyne archly replied: "No, Your Majesty; I am all American."

Miss Lyne told some of her friends afterward that the Queen looked her "through and through," though not unkindly.

Later Hammerstein said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent: "The King is a most genial gentleman," adding that the King said that he hoped to visit him again.

"I hope the King's visit will bring us good luck," he continued. "The present season has been bad for both me and Covent Garden, but at the libraries which control the bookings here they laugh, saying there is no need to worry, as in a few weeks people will be flocking in."

FLIES 81 MILES AN HOUR IN SNOW STORM

Aviator Bedel Buffeted by Wind in His Flight for the Pommery Cup.

BORDEAUX, France, April 30.—Aviator Bedel arrived here from Villacoublay today, near Paris, after making intermediate stops at Tours and Angouleme. His average speed was nearly 81 miles an hour. Throughout the flight he was buffeted by the wind and a snow storm raged, causing him severe suffering.

Bedel intends to continue his flight to Madrid. He is competing, like Vedrines, for the Pommery cup.

Surgeons Hope to Save Vedrines, Who Fell Near Paris.

PARIS, April 30.—Jules Vedrines, who yesterday met with a serious accident while flying over his birthplace at Saint Denis, a suburb of Paris, is still in a critical condition, but the surgeons in attendance express the opinion that there is some hope of his recovery.

Vedrines has been decorated with the Legion of Honor for his achievements in aviation.

CHOOSES GALLOWS RATHER THAN BULLET

Slayer Keeps Cool to the Last, Only Asking the Attendants to Hurry.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 30.—By his own choice, J. J. Morris, ex-convict and convicted murderer, met death on the gallows at the State prison early today. There was not a quaver in his voice as he urged the officers to be quick about their work. The last previous legal execution in Utah was by bullet eight years ago.

Morris shot and killed J. Walter Axtell in an attempt to escape after he had robbed a shop.

Morris sent a written invitation to Axtell's father to witness his hanging. Mr. Axtell did not accept.

HARRY: Father will consent if you get the diamond ring from Loftis Bros. on credit.

Greatest Nerve and Blood Tonic

No. 2 M. I. S. T. No. 2

I have given personal inspection to the working of M. I. S. T. on the human system, and must say that it entirely meets with my professional sanction.

D. H. LOOMIS
Late Demonstrator of Anatomy, Philadelphia Medical College.

What We Guarantee M. I. S. T. No. 2 Will Cure

RHEUMATISM, no matter how long standing. Any case of inflammation of the Bladder. BLOOD DISEASES IN ANY STAGE. ANY CASE OF DIABETES.

It is no stimulant. Its effects are permanent and lasting. Will remove entirely from the system Cancer and Cancerous Germs.

In addition to the above, M. I. S. T. No. 2 has cured many cases of Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Spinal Trouble and apparently incurable diseases of the nerves.

M. I. S. T. has been on the market for over 30 years, and has cured thousands of sufferers. It is prescribed by leading physicians all over the country. It is pleasant to take and absolutely safe. It never increases or diminishes the action of the heart. If you are suffering from any chronic disease you are urged to write to us, no matter how many doctors or kinds of medicines you have tried without relief. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE YOU.

FREE That you may judge of the value of the Great Specific for yourself, we will send you one week's treatment by mail FREE, only asking that when cured yourself you will recommend it to others. Write confidentially to our medical department, giving symptoms. $1 per box, or six boxes for $5.

NEBRASKA CONVICT GUILTY OF MURDER

Jury Ballots 6 Hours Before Convicting Slayer of Deputy Warden of Lincoln Prison.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 30.—Albert Prince, a negro convict, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by the jury which reported at 9 o'clock this morning.

The jury balloted six hours before reaching a decision, shortly after midnight. Prince stabbed Deputy Warden Albert Davis at the State Penitentiary on Feb. 11.

Prince depended on insanity as his defense, claiming that he had been driven to desperation by ill-treatment. In establishing this contention, he brought forward evidence upon [illegible] of conviction, most of which was disputed, but some of which was admitted to be true by the penitentiary officials.

Secret Mission for Cruiser.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 30.—It is reported here that the cruiser Maryland will leave port Wednesday, but her destination is a secret. It is said she has taken on more supplies than would be required for a voyage up the coast.

TOKIO, April 30.—The Hoggaide company's colliery at Yubarri, on the Island of Yoso has been wrecked by an explosion and 283 miners are entombed with little possibility of rescue.

A LITTLE SAGE AND SULPHUR RESTORES COLOR TO GRAY HAIR AND MAKES IT GROW

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Wolff-Wilson, 524 Washington Av.—ADV.

TRAINING RESUMED IN PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Candidates for Post-Dispatch Medals Take Up Work, Interrupted by Rains.

With the return of bright weather Tuesday training which had been interrupted by the rain Monday was resumed by the Public School Athletic League squads in the various schools of the city. Conditions in the next few weeks are expected to be ideal for training for the running, jumping and shot-putting events which are on the Athletic League program and the training work that is done during this period will determine the medal winners at the field meets.

Squads which have not been training should begin at once. None too much time remains for the purpose. Every boy who is a member of the Athletic League should lose no time in getting in fit condition for the events in which he is to compete.

Captains will find that as training progresses, they will be able to get more boys interested and bring their squads up to the numbers they should contain. The league is not for big boys only. Events are provided for boys in the 85-pound class. That means that all boys who do not weigh more than 85 pounds can enter. In running and jumping, weight is as likely to be a disadvantage as an advantage and a boy who is under weight will have a good chance to win in competition with boys who weigh up to the limit.

By getting the smaller boys interested the captains will be able to bring their squads up to numbers that will make competition for the Post-Dispatch medals interesting.

Principals and captains will find the members of the Patrons' Associations ready to assist in every way in the training and the preparations for the school meets. The patrons of most of the schools assist with the arrangements for the school picnics and will co-operate with the principal and the boys in arranging to have the athletic events as features of the picnic day program.

Miss Augusta M. Choisel, Principal of Carondelet school, announced Tuesday the appointment of Morice Fuchs of 7923 Ivory avenue as captain of the Carondelet school squad. The school was entered in the league several days ago, but the principal took time to find an available boy for captain. Boys are being enrolled in the Carondelet school squad and training will begin without delay.

The Wabash provides four stations in St. Louis from which its patrons may leave or arrive. The "Banner Limited" leaving Union Station daily at 1:30 p. m., stops at Vandeventer av. 1:36 p. m., Delmar av. 1:45 p. m., Florissant av. 2:00 p. m., arriving at Chicago 9:30 p. m.

PRAYER IN LIQUOR FIGHT

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 30.—Women of Boone County are to use prayer to combat the efforts of the saloon men to win this town and county back into the "wet" column at the June election.

Every [illegible] temperance woman in the county will set aside a half hour each day for prayer.

MADAM! DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS" IS THE ONLY SAFE LAXATIVE FOR YOU.

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion and nervousness. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have gently disappeared from your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.—ADV.

$1.25 54-INCH DRESS GOODS FOR 55c YARD

A sale Wednesday that should attract a multitude of buyers to our Dress Goods Section.

This sale is the outcome of an unusually lucky purchase which brought us 4864 yards of very high quality 54-inch Mannish Suitings from a leading manufacturer of Women's Skirts & Suits, who had a surplus stock of fabrics on hand which he was obliged to quickly convert into needed ready cash.

Included in this rich assortment are the newest Heather mixtures, homespun effects & novelty weaves—in plain & striped styles, with an abundance of the very serviceable & fashionable grays.

Fabrics suitable for street, traveling or outing wear, for separate skirts or suits—these fabrics are steam sponged & shrunk, & being extremely wide, it takes only about 2¼ yards for a skirt, or 4¼ yards for a coat suit—actual $1.25 quality—the entire lot goes on sale Wednesday at the generously low price of, yard..... 55c

WOMEN'S $5.00 TO $7.50 Spring Skirts

For $2.65

There are 700 Skirts included in this wonderful offering & the prices quoted would not pay for the materials alone that have been put into them. We secured them at an absurdly low price from a maker who had odd bolts & half pieces of materials which he desired to dispose of—we had them made up into 30 of this Spring's most sought models. Some have high waist lines, panels in front & back, some with foot plaits—all exceedingly well tailored. The materials include serges, chiffon Panamas & novelty fabrics—in the newest grays, tans, browns, blues also black—skirts well worth $5.00 to $7.50—Wednesday, while they last, choice of any for $2.65.

TWO REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS IN LID CLUB INQUIRY

Both Men Are Expected to Be Indicted Shortly as a Result of the Grand Jury's Investigation on a Charge of Selling Liquor Without a License.

FULL PENALTY $300 FINE AND 6 MONTHS

Minimum for Conviction on the Charge Is $50 Fine or One Month or Both—Bartenders and Managers Slated for Prosecution.

The grand jury which has been investigating lid clubs is expected to make a special report to Judge Taylor some time this week. In police circles it is believed that indictments against two Republican politicians said to be the powers behind the illegal liquor traffic will be returned.

Accepting the grand jury's view that the lid clubs are merely illegal saloons, the charge on which proprietors or employes would be prosecuted is selling liquor without a license. The penalty for conviction is a fine of $50 to $300, or a workhouse sentence of one to six months, or both. The offense is classed as a misdemeanor.

One of the politicians concerned, anticipating indictment, is boasting that he can "beat the case" in court.

Wholesale indictments against lid club bartenders who pose as "presidents," "managers" and "stewards," are looked for. The grand jury has spent two weeks investigating the clubs, and William E. Hoke, one of the members, after a personal inspection of 13 clubs, has pronounced them nothing but illegal saloons.

To Continue a Month.

The April grand jury will be in session until the end of May, at which time it will make a final report incorporating its views of the lid club situation, but body is at liberty to make a partial at any time it sees fit or whenit wishes to return a batch of indents into court.

Despite the fact that their daily reports show the lid club business is falling off at a rapid rate, the police will continue the espionage begun three weeks ago. Capt. Schwartz will station patrolmen outside the clubs in the daytime as well as at night, and frequenters will be subpenaed to appear before the grand jury.

The police have information that the straw officials of the clubs are paid weekly salaries by the political backers. These fake officials will all be indicted, and will be threatened with prosecution until such time as they are willing to tell by whom they are employed.

The "stewards" and "managers" charged with selling liquor without a license in warrants issued by Prosecuting Attorney Sidener in the past week have signified their intention of fighting the cases by calling for juries. The State contends this action is being taken to gain time, but that it will not dampen the prosecution.

Judge Kinsey Refused to Grant Charter to Negro Club.

Judge Kinsey has declined to grant a charter to the Crews-Vernon Negro Republican League Club at 2208 Chestnut street. The Judge said that courts have been extremely liberal, if not too liberal, in their construction of the statute under which the club sought incorporation and that many lid clubs have been the outcome.

He commended the proposed incorporators of the negro club for their frankness in revealing it was their purpose to have a buffet for members, but said the promoters can do the other things they had organized for, such as educating and physically improving the negro race, without a charter.

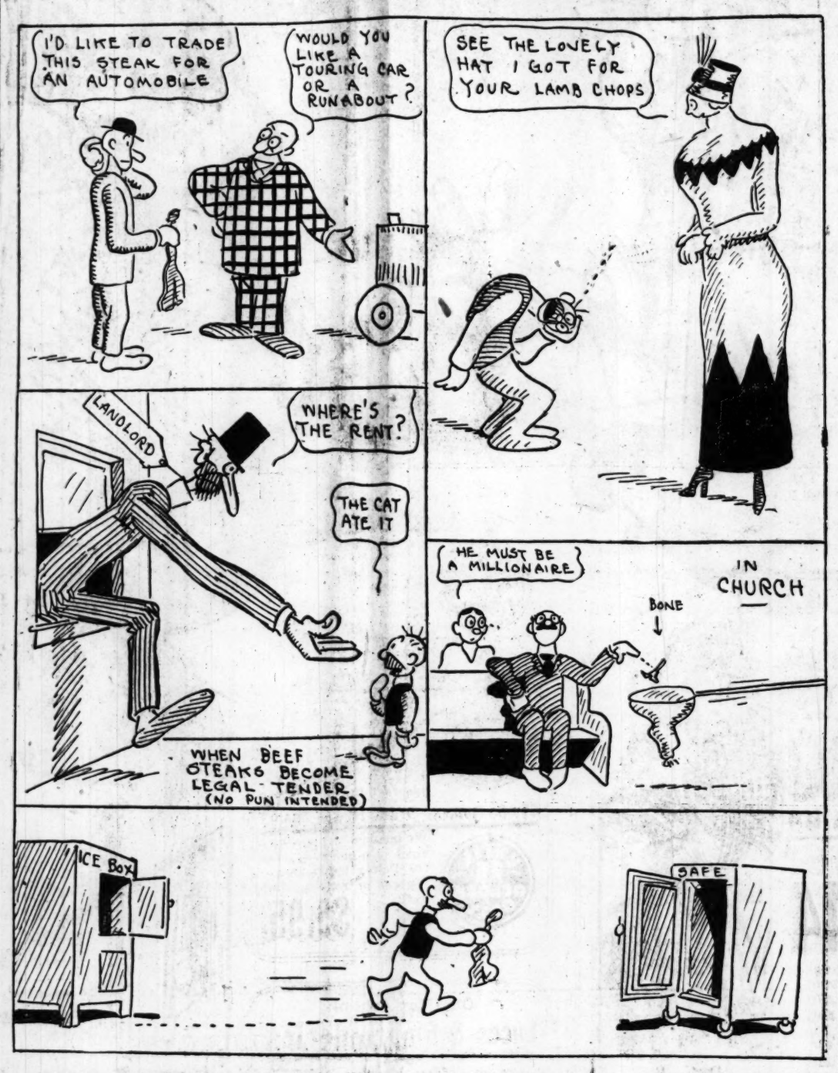

Incorporation of the club could serve no public benefit and might result in putting it under police surveillance as a lid-lifting organization because of the proposed buffet, said the Judge. The amicus curiae appointed in this case had recommended that a charter be granted.

5 Women Arrested at Lotus Club Cry When Taken to Holdover Cells.

Five women arrested in the Lotus Club at 806 North Fourteenth street, Tuesday, protested when Capt. Schoppe of the Carr Street District made them give their ages, and burst into tears when he conducted them to holdover cells. Eight men, also arrested in the club, were taken to the station and detained for an hour. They were then released. The police raided the club at 7 a. m. The women gav thir nams as Grace Robinson, 25, 5802 Clemens avenue; Mrs. Ruby Berry, 22, 820 Chouteau avenue; Margaret Shumate, 22, 4633 Bell avenue; Viola Wallace, 19, 822 Chouteau avenue, and Bernice Grant, 20, 4100 Olive street.

PRICE OF ALL CUTS OF BEEF ADVANCES 3C TO 6C A POUND

Retailers Say Higher Quotations Are Caused by Increases Asked by Packers.

The price of all cuts of beef has advanced from 2 to 6 cents a pound during the past few weeks. Union market butchers, Tuesday, asked 25 cents a pound for all the better cuts. The markets grouped in the Franklin avenue neighborhood were slightly lower on their prices.

The advance in prices, the retailers say, is due to the higher prices charged by the packing houses. The packers were paying $8.75 to $9 a hundred pounds for cattle on the hoof, Tuesday, which they say means high prices for fresh cuts of meat.

Higher Prices Expected.

The retailers who keep in close touch with the market said they expected prices would go still higher. The packers also were paying from $7.50 to $8 for hogs on the hoof, while good sheep were selling at $8.25.

The prices which the packers have to pay for good quality of cattle, sheep and hogs will have a tendency to keep prices up for some time, in the opinion of the retailers. Investigation shows, according to the packers, that beef bought at 9 cents a pound on the hoof cannot be sold for less than 25 cents a pound at retail for the choice cuts. Butts and the coarser cuts of meat are quoted by the big downtown retailers at 7 to 13 cents a pound.

Fresh Eggs 20 Cents.

Vegetables not produced in the vicinity of St. Louis also are high. Homegrown asparagus and rhubarb are about the cheapest vegetables on the market. Two big bunches of rhubarb, enough to make two pies, are sold for 5 cents, and asparagus is selling at 10 cents a bunch and three bunches for a quarter. Potatoes are quoted at $1.40 to $1.50 a bushel. Eggs, with the market guarantee of freshness, are selling at an average price of 20 cents a dozen.

Meat Prices at Chicago Higher Than for Two Years.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Prices of meat on the hoof and in retail markets have reached the highest average known here in two years. Packers say they are paying the highest prices for cattle in more than 20 years, considering the quality offered.

Responsibility for the high prices appears to be in doubt. The butcher says the wholesale price is higher. Wholesalers say they are compelled to pay more to the packers. The packers declare the farmers ar demanding more money, and the farmers say that corn is too expensive to feed.

Beef sirloin is 4 cents a pound higher than last year, tenderloin is up 5 cents and lamb 6 cents. The following are prices based on an average taken from values asked by several butchers: Round steak, 21 cents; sirloin, 26; tenderloin, 35; leg of lamb, 24; lamb loin, 31; pork loin, 22; pork tenderloin, 33, and chicken, 23.

Beef on the hoof brings $9 a hundredweight and lambs sell for $10.20.

FLOYD ALLEN BEFORE BAR

First of Virginia Slayers to Be Put on Trial.

WYTHEVILLE, Va., April 30.—Floyd Allen was before the bar in the Circuit Court here today to be tried for his life for the part he played in the Hillsville courthouse tragedy March 14. His case was selected for trial first and upon its outcome will depend largely the methods of the State in prosecuting the other five accused clansmen now under guard in jail here.

It was expected that considerable trouble would be experienced in getting a jury.

MAN OWNS LOTS, WOMAN IS SUED, SALE SET ASIDE

Petition in Back Tax Case Names Jessie Cowan, but Describes Wrong Gender.

REAL OWNER NOT NAMED

Property Belonged to Sylvester Fisher and Brought a Low Price at Sale.

Because the petition in a suit for back taxes against property held in the name of Jesse Cowan described the individual as a woman instead of a man, Circuit Judge Muench has set aside a sale of the property under an execution on the judgment. The tax suit was directed against "Jessie Cowan, her unknown husband, her unknown widower if dead and her unknown heirs," while the deed to the property, which was embraced in the petition, described Cowan as a single man.

City Collector Koeln, plaintiff in the suit, supposing the owner was a woman because of the first name of "Jessie" in the deed, prosecuted the suit as against a woman. The petition stated that the whereabouts of Jessie Cowan are unknown, and service was by publication.

The motion to set aside the sale was made by heirs of the late Sylvester Fisher, a real estate agent. It was alleged that the judgment was not valid because it appeared to be against a woman as record owner of the property, notwithstanding Jessie Cowan is a man.

It developed in the hearing of the motion that Cowan is a waiter at the West End Hotel and that, while the property involved in the suit was placed in his name at the Recorder's office, the actual owner was Sylvester Fisher. The property sold consisted of two vacant lots on St. Louis avenue. They brought a total of $285, the purchaser being Philip E. Briscoe and Herman Kralleman.

Judge Muench said that, aside from the mistake in the gender of the defendant named in the suit, the sale would be set aside because the amount obtained for the property was so grossly inadequate as to shock the conscience of a chancellor. It was testified the lots were worth $2050.

MRS. STETSON'S FOE SCIENCE HEALER, SUES FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. L. Y. Charters, Said to Get Highest Fees in New York, Names Actress in Suit.

HUSBAND ALSO A READER

He, in Reply, Drags Millionaire Lumberman Into the Action.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Vice-Chancellor Stevenson of Jersey City is hearing the suit of Mrs. Lillian Young Charters for a divorce from Charles Charters. The Vice-Chancellor will take further testimony in Paterson on Mrs. Charter's application for alimony and counsel fees, Charters having alleged that he is without property, while his wife owns a $20,000 residence at Palisade, N. J., and lives in an apartment house at No. 440 Riverside Drive, New York, which costs $2100 a year.

Mrs. Charters is a daughter of Lieutenant-General S. M. B. Young, U. S. N., retired, and is second reader of the Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, Madison avenue and Thirty-eighth street.

As a Christian Science practitioner at No. 341 Fifth avenue, she is said to receive the highest fees paid in the city. Her husband is also a practitioner, his office being in the Astor Court Building, No. 18 West Thirty-fourth street.

Mrs. Stetson's Foe.

Charters and his wife first preferred the charges upon which Mrs. Augusta Stetson was excommunicated from the Christian Science Church three years ago, and their domestic troubles may, it is said, involve the authorities of the church. For the past year Charters' name has not been included in the list of recognized practitioners printed in the Christian Science Journal.

Mrs. Charters alleges as the grounds upon which she seeks a divorce the fact that Charters was named in the suit for divorce brought by George Wilder of Stansted Castle, Sussex, England, against Una Evelyn Mazie Wilder, who was called "the most beautiful actress in England" when Wilder married her in 1893.

Wilder was granted his decree March 6 last, and on the following day Mrs. Wilder was arraigned at the Guildhall on a charge of having threatened to kill her former husband. Upon her promise to leave England within 14 days she was freed, and is said to be in the United States now.

Charters, in his answer to his wife's charge, says her affections were alienated by the "wicked arts and skillful contrivances" of Thomas L. L. Temple, president of the Southern Pine and Lumber Co. of Texarkana, Tex., who is said to be of great wealth.

Gave Horses to Mrs. Eddy.

He attracted attention some years ago by presenting Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy with a $10,000 team of harness horses, which proved to be so high-spirited when they reached Concord, N. H., that Mrs. Eddy returned them. This statutory allegation has been withdrawn, so only Mrs. Charters is now suing.

In her complaint, Mrs. Charters recites that Una Evelyn Mazie Wilder was sued in London on April 14, 1911, her husband alleging that at 3:30 a. m. March 29 Arthur Moodale, superintendent of Stansted Castle, an unnamed member of the Lambs Club, and two detectives entered Mrs. Wilder's apartments in the Hotel Gerard, in Forty-fourth street, and found Mrs. Wilder there in the company of Charters. Wilder settled $2250 a year on his former wife.

Charters says that he was married in San Antonio, Tex., on Oct. 24, 1898. He adds that on June 9, 1903, as he and his wife were returning from a pilgrimage to the Mother Church in Boston, she proposed that they live together thereafter as "brother and sister, saying that it was against her conception of a correct spiritual life" to live otherwise.

In Love With Wife.

Charters accepted this condition, "being in love with his wife and believing that in the course of time his wife would change her attitude toward him in the respect referred to." In 1905 Temple, "a man of large means," came to New York to receive treatment from Mrs. Stetson, who was about to leave the city for some time, and introduced the Texan to Mrs. Charters. Temple has three children—Marguerite, who is now 22 years old; Georgie, who is 20, and Arthur, who is 18. Charters says at that time he believed "his wife's interest in Temple was of an entirely honorable nature and did not suspect that the friendship was inimical to his marital peace."

Both Temple and Mrs. Charters, he says, assured him that Temple only "wished his children to have the society of Mrs. Charters, for whose mental and moral gifts Temple pretended to have great esteem."

OUR RECORD-BREAKING RIVER.

When before the beginning of the "flood-stage" in the Mississippi, the Navy Department promised to send a man-of-war up the Mississippi, "if conditions were favorable," the Post-Dispatch warned all concerned that at the rate money needed for controlling "interstate water" had been squandered in Washington for other purposes, the entire fleet might be needed this spring for rescue purposes with water enough prevalent to float it easily.

That conclusion was then stated as a summary from reports of the Weather Bureau. It would have been well if self-defensive action, since pursued so heroically along the Mississippi, had begun as soon as this information from the Weather Bureau was summed for use. As similar information is still accumulating, it is not safe to ignore it now. From all information available, the crisis of April may repeat itself. There may be no occasion for alarm at present, but there is present occasion for making every preparation to continue organized work for self-protection.

It is well to hope that the indications are all wrong, but when the Mississippi shows indications of breaking its own records, it is not to be trifled with.

Whoever is nominated at Chicago, a lot of G. O. P. organs are bound to be excessively pained by the reproduction after the convention of the stuff they are printing before the convention.

WHAT IS WRONG?

In all the cities of Central America one sees children selling lottery tickets. In Panama City one is impressed by the tender youth and great numbers of children pressing this baleful commodity upon everyone passing. The proprietor of the Panama Lottery, who goes about in conspicuous opulence, is the star boarder at Uncle Sam's celebrated isthmian hotel.

Recently a group of Americans watched the crowd in one of the plazas of Panama City.

"What is the matter with this Latin-American country?" someone asked.

"I'll tell you," a plain-speaking philosopher from the States exclaimed. "All those children selling lottery tickets out there on the square ought to be selling newspapers."

"I was a man of straw, but I have been a man of straw long enough," said Mr. Taft at Lowell, Mass., but can he succeed in his resolve to be some other kind of a man?

"FARCICAL" UNSCRAMBLING.

George W. Perkins says "Wall street is laughing in its sleeve at the farcical results of the Taft trust-busting program" under the Sherman law.

That enormous advantages to the trust magnates resulted from such mergers as those of Standard Oil and the Tobacco Trust is undeniable. Otherwise they would never have taken the financial and legal risks involved.

That a large part of such advantages are lost when the Sherman law steps in to insist that the combines must be resolved into their constituent corporations is also undeniable. To argue otherwise from a temporary range of quotations that may be influenced by market rigging is absurd.

The magnates would long ago have begun unscrambling the eggs of their own accord, if it were so profitable to do so. Wall street is doing no laughing in its sleeve at the "farcical results" of such conditional decrees of dissolution as that aimed at the St. Louis Terminal monopoly.

The contempt Mr. Perkins professes to feel for the equity proceeding does not extend to another proceeding authorized by a few brief sentences in the Sherman law—the unfarcical criminal proceeding. "I am in this fight on principle," he says. What principle? It is Perkins-Roosevelt principle of a government partnership with the trusts; Government valorization of such holdings as those of the Harvester Trust and Steel Trust, and immunity from jail sentences.

Mr. Perkins frankly confesses that he asked President Roosevelt not to prosecute the Harvester Trust. Facts that burn with illumination for the people are that, not only was the Harvester Trust never prosecuted under Mr. Roosevelt, but it never was prosecuted under Mr. Taft until its official protector quarreled with the administration.

TEN UNANSWERED QUESTIONS.

Now that Mr. Roosevelt is screaming about Mr. Taft's surrender to the interests, Mr. Taft is charging that Mr. Roosevelt received corporation favors and returned them in protection and Mr. Perkins is artlessly confessing that he contributed to the campaign funds of both Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt, perhaps we can get interesting information we have long sought.

We know that Mr. Perkins gave the Roosevelt fund $50,000 of insurance money and that two other insurance companies contributed $50,000 each. We know from Mr. Perkins' testimony that the Steel Trust contributed to the fund of 1904.

We know that Mr. Harriman raised $260,000 for use in New York. We know that Standard Oil sent $100,000, which Mr. Roosevelt says he sent back. Mr. Armour boasted that the Beef Trust contributed to Mr. Roosevelt's fund. We know that Mr. Roosevelt checked the prosecution of the Harvester Trust and gave the friendly Morgan interests immunity in absorbing the Tennessee Coal and Iron Co. But this information is fragmentary. If Mr. Roosevelt really is willing to have the whole truth known he should tell the country precisely what trusts contributed to his campaign fund and how much each one contributed; he should answer, or get Mr. Cortelyou to answer, these frequently repeated but so far unanswered 10 questions of the Post-Dispatch:

1. How much has the Beef Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
2. How much has the Paper Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
3. How much has the Coal Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
4. How much has the Sugar Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
5. How much has the Oil Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
6. How much has the Tobacco Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
7. How much has the Steel Trust Contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
8. How much has the Insurance Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
9. How much have the national banks contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
10. How much have the six great railroad trusts contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

Frank replies to these questions would be a valuable contribution not alone to the literature of the Roosevelt third-term campaign but to the political history of the country.

St. Louis ends the municipal year with a surplus of $1,000,000, while Kansas City ends it with a $700,000 deficit, but before we congratulate ourselves it is necessary to inquire whether the former got as much for the money spent as the latter.

THE MARK WAS NOT MISSED.

Some of the unreconstructed defenders of the Terminal monopoly who never could see that there was anything wrong with the combine and cannot realize the force of the Supreme Court's decision suggest the story of the skillful Chinese executioner and his skeptical victim. The executioner swung his sword so deftly and swiftly that the victim did not realize what had happened. He smiled and remarked tauntingly that the executioner had missed his mark: "Just spit," said the headsman, "and see what will happen."

Let the Terminal Association try to keep on doing what the Supreme Court has forbidden and see what will happen. The cinch and the arbitrary must go.

Clevelanders who buy at a municipal market prime fish right out of Lake Erie for 5 cents a pound, listen with calm optimism to the prediction that beef prices will reach the highest price known in history during the next three months.

PROMULGATING FADS.

The way to start another fad in the public schools which may be pernicious and is certain to be costly is now only too notorious. After writing a dozen letters or so to a dozen or so other faddists in different cities, you are ready to organize another National Altruistic Association for the Improvement of Everything.

With $8.50 expended in having the letterheads of the National Association printed, you are ready to proceed. You formulate the fad in typewritten form, sign it as president or member of the executive committee of the National Association, and mail the letters in successive batches. Then it is all over except paying for the new "educational movement."

Anybody can do this and it seems at times that most people who control typewriters are doing it. But not the "National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild." It has the remarkable distinction of planning the introduction of an entirely harmless fad that will not cost much. It asks that living pictures be shown public school children which will illustrate practical methods of cultivating plants and flowers. With the right pictures, this would be virtually equal to learning how to do such work from watching the work done.

If it costs too much at present, we can at least afford to postpone other fads until we can afford this one. If the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild brings about that result, it will be entitled to national gratitude.

The Titanic's experience suggests that the Dreadnaughts may also be mismaned.

UNPACIFIED JINGOES.

With former Vice-President Fairbanks on the platform at the dedication of the new Union Methodist Church building in St. Louis, Bishop William A. Quayle declared that providence has pacified the world so that armies are becoming less and less necessary.

Yet according to official totals, well known to the former Vice-President, the burden of taxation on American workers for military purposes has been increased since 1900 as it never was before in history. The Statistical Abstract of the United States (official for 1911) shows on page 708 that the War Department spent more than three times as much in 1910 as in 1890 and the Navy Department more than five times as much. During the same time the expense of military pensions increased from $106,936,000 to $160,696,000. The combined total of the expenditures of the War and Navy Departments for 1911 was $280,073,000. It was more than four times their combined total in 1890 ($66,588,000), but the expense of the Navy Department alone had been increased more than fivefold during that period ($22,006,000 for 1890; $119,937,000 for 1911.) These figures do not include "salaries, public buildings and grounds."

As the enormity of these exaggerated increases becomes most manifest under the Roosevelt administrations, no one has yet been able to "pacify" those who profit by this drain on the peaceful industry of American workers. They are paying tribute to the determination of jingoism to become titanic.

J. W. Bailey, campaigning in Texas, is telling his auditors that Gov. Wilson is "too highly educated." Naturally Mr. Bailey prefers other Democratic candidates to whom this criticism does not apply.

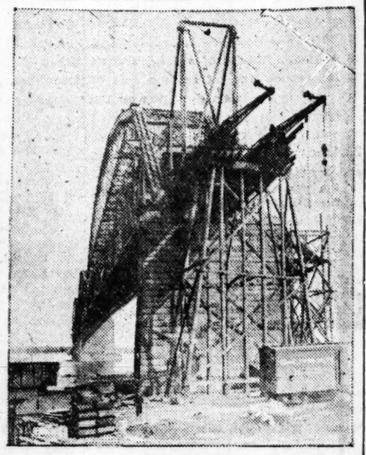

Mr. Carnegie wanted to spank both of them, but the labor-saving plan of letting Mr. Roosevelt spank Mr. Taft and Mr. Taft spank Mr. Roosevelt has obvious advantages.

To one side or the other the result of the Massachusetts primaries will not seem nearly as important tomorrow as it does today.

Five hundred Chicago saloon keepers go out of business today. And Chicago has no lid clubs.

After all it is better to mean well feebly than to mean ill strongly.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Republican Mix-up.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Think of Roosevelt and Taft four years ago, their power and influence united against Bryan. Look at them now. Did they misunderstand each other then and do they know each other better now? Perhaps they misunderstood Bryan then. Maybe he would make a better President than either one or both of them.

A friend to the President that is a friend to the people: but who is he? Where is he? Put your finger on him. J. A. T.

The Brickyard Workers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

My husband is a hard-working man. He is a brickyard worker and receives only $1.50 per day for 10 hours' work. He has only nine (sometimes 10) months work per year. It is almost impossible, with the high cost of living at present, to keep soul and body together, and under the circumstances I think the brickyard workers ought to have a union. As I understand it, they seem to be the only class of working men who are not united. They do the hardest kind of outdoor work and are they poorest paid of any I know. Most of the ordinary laborers here receive $1.65 per day.

Can't the brickyard men get together and organize for the benefit of their families? There is big money in brick. The raw material is taken out of the ground with little expense—about $4 per thousand is the actual cost of manufacturing brick, office and selling expenses included—so you can readily see the big profit to the makers, as brick sell for from $6 to $24 per thousand, according to shade, kind and color. Why don't the labor unions look into this and have the brickmakers organize? MRS. L. F.

Fix the Responsibility.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The British public are beginning to whine about the investigation of the Titanic tragedy. One British paper characterizes Senator Smith as "a fool from the wilds of Michigan," and as knowing nothing whatever of sea navigation. As this wholesale drowning of a large number of persons begins to become apparent from recklessness and mismanagement of the officers of the vessels, it is our duty to investigate and fix the responsibility where it belongs and if the stigma fits the British naval officer, let him wear it. America as a maritime nation has nothing to learn from England and the characteristic braggadocio and bluster will have no effect whatever in stopping the inquiry. STARLING

"Something in It."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I know of a party who says he is plugging for one of the big political candidates. He does not believe in this presidential aspirant, nor in his principles, but he thinks there is something in it for him. There is an army of such fellows nowadays. They look upon both of the big parties as being fakes and their leaders as fakers, but there is something in it for them. Of course the Socialist party is handicapped (?) because there is nothing in it for a mob of camp followers.

City Payroll Hold-Up.

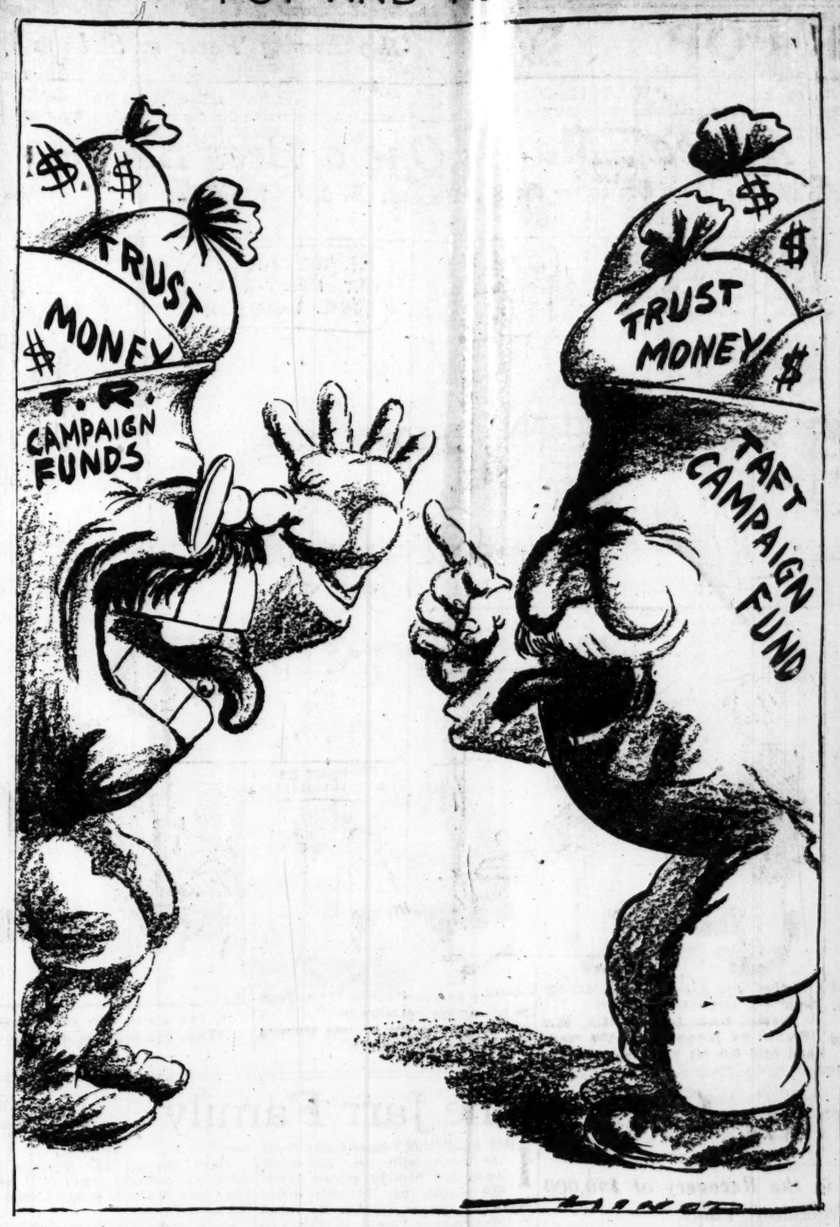

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The ordinary city employe hasn't got much chance in this world with the general public. He is considered a grafter by some—a ne'er-do-well by others.

However, there are a large number of skilled mechanics in the various departments; honest, conscientious and hard-working men, who are each year about this time in need of a champion to go right to the front and remedy an evil that should never be tolerated. The salary envelope is again to be held up six to eight weeks—perhaps longer.

Meantime these employes are compelled to exist just like others of the human species, and suffer embarrassment and hardship. Some of these men have a family to feed, and the wives and children must suffer along through no fault of their own. There is much room for improvement in municipal management in this city, and I suggest that less time be squandered on poppycock and foolish confabs by our worthy delegates and Councilmen, and more sensible measures and business transacted.

EMPLOYMENT FOR WOMEN.

From the Baltimore News.

The Consumers' League of Philadelphia is making a careful study of the trades by which women earn a living. The purpose is to compile exact information for the guidance of parents whose daughters must earn a living and for women who are forced to support themselves.

When the investigation is completed a girl who seeks employment can make an intelligent study of the various trades which offer places. She can learn at the outset just how much she may expect to earn, what her chances of advancement are and what occupations are dangerous physically or morally.

The ultimate effect of this study of women's trades should be to raise wages and improve working conditions in many occupations.

AID TO LONGEVITY.

From the Boston Globe.

Through statistics gleaned from all over the world, an eminent French physician has reached the conclusion that matrimony is the greatest aid to longevity.

A benedict, he says, has thrice the chance of a bachelor to live to a ripe old age.

Widowers under 60, he adds, can lower the mortality rate in their class by seeking new partners in the bonds of wedlock.

Thus does a scientific investigator knock on the head the vicious lie of the wicked iconoclast who is forever asserting that the life of a married man is no lengthier than that of his single brother—only seems longer.

And It Came True.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Have you ever had a dream that came true?"

"Yes. I had one only a few night ago that came true. I dreamed that I was going to receive a telegram which I would be afraid to show to my wife."

"And you got it? Was it from another woman?"

"Yes."

"Say, old man, I never supposed you would be guilty!—"

"Wait! It was from my mother, who notified me that she was coming to visit us for two or three weeks."

Her Thought.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Do you remember the first time I ever put my arm around you?" he asked, after they had started on their honeymoon.

"I shall never forget it," she replied.

"What did you think?"

"I thought you had fooled away a lot of time over the preliminaries."

The Best Part.

From the Houston Post.

"Well, the watermelon will soon be with us."

"Yep. Watermelons cost me a head of money. I always eat the middle and throw the rest away."

"That's the way I do with the doughnuts my wife makes."

Placing Him.

From the Houston Post.

"That man has an idea that he understands women. He's a widower, I believe."

"Nope. If he's got any such idea as that he's a bachelor."

No, Luella—
It is nothing
History will

It is simply
Bill and Teddy

'SH!

Champ Clark may be the man for men,
According to the West;
A man who knows to set a hen
Or rob a hornet's nest;
A man who can do much for man,
A refuge for the poor,
But he will be the man who ran,
And lost, at Baltimore.

The East may pamper up their pet
And saturate his soul
With glory, while they fume and fret
Before he makes the goal;
And Wilson may be contentate
Of all the Eastern lore,
But he will feel the hand of fate
When Bryan takes the floor.

We saddle up the wildest bronc
And tame the lion's roar;
Domesticate the wild goose-honk,
To quacks, about our door;
The elephant, for us will dance,
The aeroplane will soar,
But Bryan will not miss his chance,
His chance a Baltimore.

THE SEED SONG.

This is the season when the cloud comes sailing up with merry din, and looking dark and evil-browed, says
"Who has put his grass seed in?" "I have," you say, "a week ago!" at which the cloud puts hard about; lets go a thunderbolt or so, and washes all your labor out.

"Ah, sir!" say you, "for all your pour,
My credit at the grocery store,
Like Noah's ark, surmounts the tide,
And here am I, unterrified."

"I know it," says the gaping cloud,
"and you will plant the yard anew—nor mean to be a moment cowed in what you are resolved to do. Though 20 storms arise and bear the last seed kernel to the sea, your credit, as you say, is there, and that is what amuses me."

"Say on, great Cumulus!" say you,
And sound your wild, shrill whoop-de-do!
A challenge heard above the crash
That follows on the lightning flash.

"I knew a man," says Tempest dread,
"whose grocer let him pay ahead, and when I fired my warning guns, he'd have as much as 20 tons. I've seen it floating all the way from here to Natchez. Every day he'd put it in,
I'd wash it out, and thus we countered, turn about."

"Lay on, McDuff!" says hope and pride
In native lawns, "though ocean wide
Composed a Saragossa sea
Of that same seed, what's that to me?"

"Why, nothing—truly!" says the cloud, draping the heavens like a shroud, winding its filaments about, and flushing the barren places out. "I only thought," it says, "but there!" and lifts its gossamer in air, shakes its last silvery mist of rain, and lo! it is planting time again.

ONE MUST SAY SOMETHING.

William Miller Collier, late Minister to Spain, describes a conversation with King Carlos of Portugal during a state visit to the Spanish court. As the King had to initiate all subjects of conversation and as he had met most of the members of the Diplomatic Corps for the first time, he found conversational progress rather hard sledding. When Mrs. Collier was introduced as the wife of the American Minister, the King looked up at the ceiling for an instant as if searching for a subject, and then began with "You have a great deal of snow in your country, do you not?"

Euclid was laboring over some puzzling problem.

"What is it?" they asked.

The father of mathematics looked up helplessly.

"I have a hard one here," he said. "I'm trying to figure out the difference between the Titanic going 21 knots through an ice field of which she had been repeatedly warned, and the average joyrider going at full speed into a repair hole in the street which he sees indicated by six or eight red lanterns."

"Well," they said, "we won't interfere. If there is any difference, it will take you to find it."

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTH NOTES.

SORRY.—For "rumbling stomach" try careful study of your diet. Try eating but one or two foods at a meal. Exercise every muscle of the body—especially of the abdomen. Get physician's advice if you are able to pay him.

BERTHA.—Impure blood or unclean skin causes pimples. Diet is usually the best remedy. All greasy foods must be omitted; no pies or pastries of any kind; and the bowels should be kept regular by some gentle aperient water two or three times a week. In addition, cleanse the face well every night, using plenty of warm water and soap; rinse and dry well, and rub a little good cold cream into the skin. If the pimples fester, open and press out the matter, then use a drop of carbolic acid solution that druggist will prepare.

WEAK.—A bit of conversation was overheard in a drug store. "I'd like to sell you some Blank's wine if you make up your own beef, wine and iron," said a drummer. "Of course the beef and iron have to be put in to comply with the United States Pharmacopoeia, but you and I and every druggist know that the alcohol largely precipitates the iron and destroys the albuminoids of the beef." "Then," queried the thoughtful bystander, "the alcoholic preparations of beef and iron are practically worthless?" "That's about what it amounts to. The alcohol by its effect on the beef and the iron defeats the very purpose for which the combination is supposed to be used."

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

M. F.—Try strong lye to remove paint from bricks.

MRS. G.—Chop suey has been repeatedly published. See it at this office.

E. T.—To set color, lay the articles of clothing in salt water enough to cover them, leave for six hours.

FLORENCE.—An amateur says of removing blue serge gloss: I took a bowl of lukewarm water and poured into it a small quantity of household ammonia. Into this I dipped a clean whiskbroom, shaking it out so as not to get the cloth too wet, and brushed the skirt vigorously with it, having first slipped the skirt over an ironing board. When the whole garment had been gone over thoroughly in this way, I turned it on the wrong side and started pressing with a moderately hot iron. The result is I am richer by one walking skirt. If the 'shine' reappears, I shall repeat the process.

LAW POINTS.

R. W. D.—The Justice of the Peace will no doubt require you to put up cash or bond for costs in suit for debt.

ANXIOUS.—As to the commission charge, give more facts; as to the insurance, owner of property pays that, not holder of loan.

CONSTANT READER.—You must get neighbor's consent to put ladder on his ground, for painting your wall. Your other questions were answered April 17.

APPRECIATION.—Illinois marriage license offices not open on Sunday, but possibly the clerk could be found and persuaded. Minister is usually paid $5; Justice of the Peace, $2. Cost of Illinois license, $1 to $2.50; marriage must be in county where license is issued. Both parties must be present to obtain marriage license in Illinois and must answer questions. In Missouri both must be present unless there is someone to vouch for the absent party. Danger of getting into the papers. Phone railroads for fare.

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. R. A.—Height of Pierce Building, 201 feet; Wright, 204.

READER.—The Brazil, Ind., dailies are the News and the Times.

S. L. P.—The Schiller was wrecked in midocean in 1875; 342 lives lost.

R. C. O.—Ask Bible House, Finney av., not far from Grand, about Bibles.

WIDOW.—See Juvenile Court, hall basement, about State widows' pensions.

PAT.—Phone Illinois Traction system for the employment information you ask.

CONSTANT.—Carnegie pronounces his name Car-nay-gy, second syllable accented.

GROCER.—Consult your ward delegate in regard to the possibility of salaries of city officials being held up in May.

G. W. W.—Maj. Archibald William Grafenreid Butt was born in Augusta, Ga. We haven't the date. He is said to have been 46 years old.

LACEAU.—A suction apparatus, suited to your purpose, is obtainable at surgical instrument stores, and might be of service.

S.—The exact number of autos in St. Louis cannot yet be told, as licenses were only issued for about three weeks. The approximate number is about 9,000.

M. J. S.—In 1907, after a submergence of twenty-four hours, the crew of a submarine at Newport reappeared wearing flowers at their buttonholes.

IN DOUBT.—It is traditional in Germany that the captain must go down with his ship, but we are not referred to the origin of the custom. Some reader may know.

CARPATHIA.—The name of the rescuing steamer comes from the name of the Carpathian Mountains of East Central Europe. They form the water-parting between the basins of the Baltic and Black Seas and abound in grand and rugged scenery.

A. D.—Hillsboro is in Illinois, Missouri, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, Georgia, Colorado, Oregon, Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, North Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Indiana, New Jersey, New Mexico, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin. In Indiana there are two Hillsboros.

M. M. W.—In the advertisement, had the sentence in question been written: "Our specialty is building loans," the important words "building loans" could not have been displayed so well. In the circumstances the advertiser was justified in writing "building loans is our specialty."

PLEASE.—Indian feminine names: Ahbe-tuh-gee-zhig, center of the sky; Ahkiwa-me-au-she, low pealing thunder; Kau-che-daus, the cloud in contact with the sun; Kau-ga-au-she, the equinoctial wind of storm; Mo-kau-ge-shig, the sun bursting from a cloud; Waun-ee-nug, the morning star; Kau-gwa-dwa, the questioner; Meezh-e-pe-nais, the coupled birds; Waw-goosh-e-nince, little fox; Au-ghe-bik-e-qua, woman of the rock; Aa-sin-au-mik-e-qua, woman of the pebbly-bottom water; Hain-wa-wa-gezhig-e-qua, woman of the thunder cloud; Ke-neance-e-qua, little rosebud woman; O-buh-hau-mewa-wa-ge-shig-e-qua, woman of the murmuring of the skies. Other feminine names: Rosebud, Reclining Flower, Weeping Willow, Sweet-scented Herbage, White Cloud, Swimming Hind, Polar Star, Pure Fountain, Woman Who Strikes Many, Woman That Dwells in the Bear's Cavern—Haines' American Indian.

F.—The only remedy," says Dr. Evans, formerly Health Commissioner for Chicago, "for a man who is 35 pounds over weight is to cut down the quantity of food." Don't be misled by wonderful systems of weight reduction while you "eat what you like." There is no drug, no magic remedy, that will reduce weight to the normal safely, while you pay no attention to diet. The excessive eating of foods, in some constitutions, develops obesity, which is a disease and can be overcome by an exclusive monodiet. Change one meal a week and eat only figs or apples or prunes for a week or two and you will observe a gradual decrease in weight. The change back to the regular diet should also be made gradually. The loss in weight should not exceed three or four pounds a week, and the special diet should not be continued longer than a week or two at a time. It is best to consult a trustworthy physician in any case.

S'MATTER POP

(If as some philosophers tell us jealousy is a proof of love, Pop should be happy)

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch By C. M. PAYNE.

How It Happened.

"So she has given up the stage? I thought she was wedded to her art."
"She was. But the managers and critics got her a divorce."

Ruling Instinct.

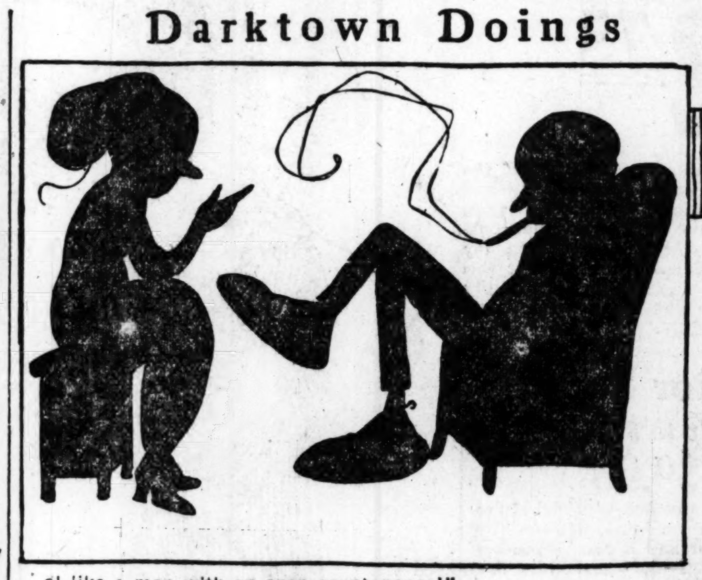

"Why did you fire that bellboy from the National Guard?"
"Every time the Captain said 'Front!' he jumped from the ranks and held out his hand for a key."

Explained at Last.

"Why do you suppose the subway is so horribly overcrowded?"
"Probably to get us into training for going to ball games."

Darktown Doings

"I like a man with an open countenance!"
"Then you ought to meet my brother. He's mouth is always ajar."

The Difference.

"What's the difference between a tune and an aria?"
"One is sung by a man with 'Mr.' in front of his name and the other by 'Signor' Somebody."

Loafing Made Easy.

"Were you at the ball game yesterday?"
"No. All three of the bosses went so I found I could loaf just as comfortably at the office."

His Education.

"So your boy graduates this spring? What has he learned?"
"That his father's a fool and that the world owes him a living."

The Roman Coins

Science Aids Dr. Frecon in the Recovery of $50,000 Stolen by a Collector's Valet.

The Daily Short Story for Post-Dispatch Readers

RENE VALINES, an old collector of ancient coins, lived alone with his valet and housekeeper, in Marseilles. The couple were married, had been with him for several years, and had one child. One morning M. Valines found a drawer of his coin cabinet broken open and half a dozen rare and ancient Roman gold pieces stolen. The coins were worth $50,000.

One of the windows leading from the balcony to the old man's study, where the coins were kept, had been removed. The pane had been cut away with a diamond, and this circumstance, as well as the fact that the cabinet had been broken open, made the police believe that a burglary had been committed. Both the valet and his wife knew where the collector kept his keys, and had been trusted by M. Valines with his coins many times.

It happened that Prof. Frecon, one of the most distinguished French experts of the new science of criminology, was a friend of M. Valines, and for him the old man immediately sent.

M. Frecon arrived within an hour or two after the robbery had been discovered. He questioned Emile and his wife. He examined the cabinet and the drawer, which had been wrenched open, as well as the cut window pane and sill.

"You say your valet, Emile, knew where you kept the key for the cabinet?" he asked. "Certainly," said the collector. "Emile has been with me for years. I trust him absolutely. Besides, it is quite plain that a burglar got in." M. Frecon smiled.

"I am sorry to tell you your confidence is misplaced. Emile robbed you! Let me tell you how I know this.

"Examining the window pane with a microscope, I found that the glass had been cut away from inside the room! This can always be clearly determined by the direction of the microscopic ridges left by the cutting tool on the edges of the glass.

"A minute's examination of the rifled drawer in the cabinet showed me that one of the little circular pockets of velvet, stiffened with a lining of pasteboard—in which the stolen coins reposed, was deeply indented. The indentation was made from contact with some flat, thin instrument with a sharp edge—for instance, a tack lifter.

"Now, if this instrument had been thrust into the drawer before the coins were removed, the little velvet pocket would not show an indentation. The coin filled it and would have protected it. Your man unlocked the cabinet drawer first, helped himself to the coins, locked it again and replaced the key, and then broke it open to give you the impression that a burglar had robbed you.

"He unlocked the cabinet first because he knew that if he broke it open while the coins were inside, he would probably scratch them, and so depreciate their value. Besides, a burglar would not have been apt to know the precise value of each coin as your man would, and would never have happened to pick out the most valuable."

"I don't believe it!" said M. Valines, "and I will not allow Emile to be arrested!"

"Valines," said M. Frecon, "let us at least bring Emile before us, question him again, and pretend to him that he is to be arrested."

To this the collector assented. Emile was called and charged by M. Frecon with the robbery. He sorrowfully denied his guilt, and assured the old collector that he was doing him a frightful injustice. M. Frecon promised him immunity if he would hand over the coins. Emile reiterated his protestations of innocence. M. Frecon set the last scene for the last drama.

"Very well," he said. "I shall now call the police and send you to jail." Emile, in tears, asked to be allowed to say good-by to his wife and little daughter. He kissed the child tenderly, saying to her:

"Don't forget to feed the canary while I am gone."

"I'll have this go no further," cried M. Valines. "This man is honest! See how he thinks, even at this moment, of the little canary!"

"I would like to see your canary," M. Frecon said to Emile's wife.

"Why, my husband doesn't know that I took the bird to a fancier's this morning because it was not singing," she said, in confusion.

"I think, Emile," said M. Frecon, "that after all, perhaps, we have been doing you an injustice. Will you promise to remain perfectly quiet here while I look through your rooms." "Or course," said Emile, with a satisfied smile.

In a short time the criminologist returned.

"M. Valines," he asked, "was the street in front of your house asphalted recently?" "why, no," said the old man. "There is no way you know in which tar could be brought into your rooms?" "no," said the old man.

M. Frecon went to the door and called in two of the policemen.

"Your lost Roman coins," he said to M. Valines, "are in a layer of tar under the outer sole of Emile's shoes which he is now wearing! Take them off," he ordered the policeman.

Throwing the resisting valet on the floor, the two policemen took off his shoes. They pried away a thin outer covering of leather from the soles. Under it was a three-eighth-inch layer of tar, in which the Roman coins were imbedded.

"How did you know that these coins were in the shoes?" asked M. Valines, after the valet had been taken to jail.

"Did you notice anything peculiar about your man when he came before you the second time?" asked the criminologist. "He talked of the canary bird," hazarded the collector. "There was no canary bird," said the detective. "The message conveyed a warning to his wife to say nothing. That is not what I refer to. Did you notice any singularity in his appearance?"

"He seemed very dignified," said the old man, haltingly, "almost if he had added to his stature."

"That is precisely how I found him out," said M. Frecon. "We scientists get into the habit of noticing everything. I happened to notice Emile's height when I first questioned him this morning. He stood against a brocaded portiere and his head reached just beneath a certain leaf in the design. Later, after you and I had talked and you had sent for him again, I noticed when he stood in the same position that his head had cut off about three-eighths of an inch of the leaf which had been wholly visible before!"

"He had changed his shoes in the meantime. Why? I asked myself.

"I examined his room and found a little ball of tar such as children are fond of chewing, or playing with, among his little girl's possessions. In his bedroom I found a thin thread of tar on the carpet. This thread described a curve similar to the curving of a shoe last!

"This explained to me at once why he had changed his shoes.

"He knew that his room would have been gone over with a fine-tooth comb. He felt sure no one would think of examining the soles of the shoes he had on. He imbedded the coins in tar that he had gotten, pressed his foot on it and cut it to the shape of the foot. He then covered the tar with a thin sole of leather. It was ingenious, I admit. It took only common sense to detect him.

"After all, my dear M. Valines, it is common sense, common sense all the time that we should use."

Serious Interview.

The bookkeeper came out looking mysteriously and called for the office boy.

"What are you doing?"

"Nuthin'."

"The boss wants to see you right away. I guess it's the bounce for yours."

"Nix," declared the office boy. "I know what he wants."

"What does he want?"

"He wants to know what new players have been signed."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Jarr Family

(Introducing the children in charge of an automobile.)

Written for the Post-Dispatch By ROY L. Mc CARDELL

IZZY SLAVINSKY came racing round the corner with his pushmobile made from discarded go-cart wheels and a soap box. His little sister Becky was in the vehicle. He halted to make faces of himself at himself on the highly polished panes of Mrs. Mudridge-Smith's limousine.

"Get out of the way, little boy," said that lady as she alighted, and Izzy stepped aside with due awe for the lofty mien and sumptuous attire of the fair young matron.

"Hey, you kid!" said the chauffeur, as Mrs. Mudridge-Smith swept inside the apartment-house portals to visit Mrs. Jarr, "will you keep an eye on this car and holler for the cops if you see any hicks trying to pinch the spare tires—and if you see that dame coming out toot the horn fer me and tell her I had to go back to the garage for a left-handed monkey wrench."

"What'll you give me?" asked Master Slavinsky.

"I'll give you a cent," said the chauffeur.

"Have you got any cigarette pictures, any colleger pictures?" asked Izzy, "and will you gimme a cent for me sister?"

As no other child was in sight to take the post of watchman for the machine, the chauffeur promised the extra penny, and, as an evidence of good faith, passed over a cigarette picture.

Then he turned the corner briskly on his way to the garage for the left-handed monkey wrench; but, evidently mistaking Gus' place for the garage, stepped in there.

"I know that chauffeur will be going away to the saloon and leaving the car," said Mrs. Clara Mudridge-Smith, as she seated herself to have a good talk about the Dinkston-Gratch nuptials. "The last time he did it somebody cut the straps and stole $200 worth of spare tires, and it got my husband so angry and raving about expenses and threatening to sell the car and carrying on about dying in the poor house! I do wish Mrs. Jarr you'd let the children go downstairs and watch it!"

"Can we sit in it?" asked the little Jarr girl.

"Can I blow the horn?" asked Master Jarr.

"I do think you might come around and give the children a ride once in a while, or me?" said Mrs. Jarr. "You're very stingy with your old automobile!"

"Why, you can go riding with me any time. So can the children," said Mrs. Mudridge-Smith. "Dear me! Anytime!"

"Well, there's no time like the present," said Mrs. Jarr.

"Oh, not today, I can't," was the reply. "I've got to go to a club meeting and then downtown to bring Mr. Smith home."

The Jarr children had awaited no command from their mother, but had sped out to watch the machine. But, alas, they found Master Slavinsky in full charge, while his little sister, Becky, was ensconsed inside the limousine shouting orders to her brother to "Run over them poor people!" through the speaking tube.

"Yah can't git on this autermobile!" cried Master Slavinsky. "I give the chowfer two cents and he told me to sit in it and not let anybody else git on!"

Little Becky Slavinsky reluctantly opened the padded door of the limousine and Miss Jarr entered.

"Dit off de big seat! Sit on one of de little ones!" she ordered.

Gussie Bepler, coming around the corner with a meat delivery from his father's butcher store, stood openmouthed to observe Master Slavinsky sitting in the driver's seat, handling the levers of the car.

"Mrs. Smith told us to watch the car," faltered Master Jarr.

"Yep, but the chowfer told me to git up here and not let anybody else git on!" exclaimed Master Slavinsky. "He's going to learn me to run it, anyway. My popper's bought it, and you can't get on unless you pay me."

INTIMATE CHATS WITH WOMEN

The Story Clothes Tell

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By MADAME LE GRANDE.

"IT'S chic, what you call in America 'slick!'" gushed the sloe-eyed French woman as she placed a "creation" upon the demure, little lady's tresses.

The demure, little lady had gentle, gray eyes, with quiet love and compassion in their depths; silky, brownish hair, simply arranged, and a sweet, tender mouth that was used to kissing the soft little necks of her babies.

The hat was a spasm of color, with an audacious, erect trimming.

There was a covert wink secreted in every flutter of the lace and the bold flare of the brim threw a bizarre, hard shadow on the face.

"Well, I don't know!" murmured the demure, little lady; "what do you think, Edith?"

Edith took in the general effect with a critical, half-closed eye.

"It's got snap," she declared at last. "It's kind of devilish looking, you know, and that's just what you want—you're too sedate. Get something that'll knock Fred's eye out, and see what a fuss he'll make over you all of a sudden.

"But it's so—so loud! Not like a hat a lady would wear," objected the little lady, plainly distressed.

"Oh, who wants to be a lady?" interrupted her companion. "You can't tell ladies by their clothes nowadays—everybody goes the limit in hats and things. You've GOT to—the men think you're a back number if your clothes are too refined looking!"

The slippery looking saleswoman shrugged her black, "charmeuse" shoulders and nodded her brilliantine-bathed head.

"Ah, madame is right," she agreed. "Today to be in style one must look a little risque. It is a great trick to look it and not be it, madame. You must 'get them guessing,' as the saying is!"

And the demure little lady bought the impertinent hat and had it sent home. And she is only one of the demure little ladies who have bought impertinent hats, audacious shoes and tense skirts.

The venturesome spirit now prevalent in the designing of women's clothes has just a step to go to descend to grossness. There is not any more the quiet, harmonious costume that satisfies the eye as a whole, and never disintegrates into a gown, a ... [illegible]

Now, each garment shrieks aloud and calls attention to its vivid existence by being a bit more daring than the adjacent one!

Years ago men would have locked their wives in the house rather than let them go out in costumes of this sort; but anything seems to go today.

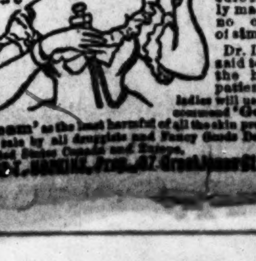

A comic opera star who will get herself up in any outlandish attire just to help her press agent along doesn't look any more startling than countless women who are supposed to live normal, quiet lives with their husbands and children.

Why this sudden hectic vogue? It is right to look as pleasing as possible; it is right to strive for individuality in dress; it is right to keep abreast of the style. But why deliberately clothe yourself in garments that make people look at you a third time and murmur curiously:

"I wonder!"

WOMAN HER OWN BEAUTY DOCTOR

Good Living a Beautifyer

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By ANDRE DUPONT.

"WILL you have a cup of tea?" said the Woman of Thirty as her friend the Average Girl dropped in to see her the other afternoon; "or would you prefer to join me in a glass of buttermilk?"

The Girl smiled. "Wouldn't the latter be rather crowded?" she said. Then as the Woman frowned at her she continued hastily: "Forgive me for getting off such old jokes. But what on earth are you drinking buttermilk for this time of day?"

"First, because it will do me a lot of good," said the Woman; "and secondly, thirdly and all the time because it's the finest beauty stunt that I know. Buttermilk is one of the best things for the complexion in the spring. It is good for the liver, and also does all sorts of beneficent acts for what one of my friends modestly refers to as 'the department of the interior.'"

"Give me some, then, just as quickly as you can," said the Girl. "My nerves are worn to a frazzle selecting my outfit. And these warm spring days play the mischief with my complexion."

"I went to a dinner party last night," said the Woman, "and sat next to Prf. Dermis, the great skin specialist. When he noticed that I refused one or two especially indigestible dishes he looked at me with approval and said he thought I was a sensible woman. He said that society women were always coming to him for 'cure-alls' to be taken internally or plastered on the skin, instead of remembering that health and beauty depend absolutely on a well-regulated diet. I agreed with him so sweetly that before he knew what he was about he gave me several valuable hints. I flatter myself that I am one of the few persons that ever got any advice from him free gratis, for nothing, as the children say. You know his fees are enormous."

"He said that nothing will so quickly improve the complexion as to eat freely of vegetables and fruits, and that meat once a day in the spring and summer is enough for anybody. He talked a lot about eating fruit and advised having it at every meal, and said there was more truth than poetry in the ancient rhyme:

An apple a day
Keeps the doctor away.

"I shall order a peck from the grocer on my way home," said the Girl.

"Better price them first," said her friend, "and then get 'two for five.' Apples, like everything else, have 'riz.' But the next thing he recommended was much cheaper. It was water. He said that most women drink too little water, and that it was best taken between meals and should never be iced, as this stops digestion. Three or four glassfuls a day, he said, was the proper quantity."

"Me for the water wagon," said the Girl. "Then ... [illegible]

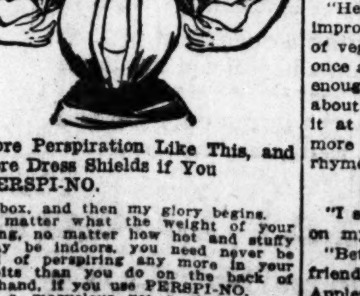

Woman, "in a tirade about the foolishness of women—just as if men were not foolish sometimes. He said women went on recklessly, year after year, eating quantities of candy, cakes and pastry, taking very little exercise, and then wondered why they looked and felt badly. He said that the average woman would look and feel better if she avoided very rich dishes and fried food in the spring. Eating a great deal of candy is also very bad for the complexion, as are much tea, coffee and chocolate; though these beverages may be drunk in strict moderation without harmful effect. Good living (by which he said he meant sensible living) and good looks went hand in hand. Women who lived well had clearer skins, brighter eyes and remained young much longer than those who did not.

"And I think that's so, don't you?"

"Girls! Girls! We Can All Stop Wearing Dress Shields!"

Rip Them Out—Here's PERSPI-NO.

"I'll never wear dress shields again, while I can get that remarkable powder, PERSPI-NO. No sir-ee! Never again for me! I just put a little in my arm-pits, with a pad that comes with each box, and then my glory begins.

No matter what the weight of your clothing, no matter how hot and stuffy it may be indoors, you need never be afraid of perspiring any more in your arm-pits than you do on the back of your hand, if you use PERSPI-NO.
It's a marvelous yet a simple powder that anybody is safe in using. It keeps your arm-pits just as fresh and dry and natural as any other portion of your body.
Use PERSPI-NO and hot theaters, dance halls and social affairs will have no more terrors for you in arm-pit perspiration. It's good-bye dress shields forever. Satisfaction guaranteed.
PERSPI-NO is for sale at your druggist's at 25c a box, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by The Perspo Co., 3715 Lincoln Av., Chicago. Trade supplied in St. Louis by Meyer Bros. Drug Co.

Fire Routs New York Hotel Guests.

NEW YORK, April 30.—A mysterious fire in the Building Exchange in Thirty-ninth street, for which four alarms were sounded early this morning, aroused the guests of a number of large hotels in the immediate vicinity. The fire started on the top floor of the 12-story building and soon worked its way down to the sixth floor. Four other fires caused losses aggregating perhaps $200,000.

Her Happiness Cheaply Bought

Only a Few Dollars Was the Price This Georgia Lady Paid for Relief From Sickness, Trouble and Worry.

"I never knew what happiness was," writes Mrs. C. F. Asper, of this place, "for I was always sick, and complaining, and made myself unhappy and others as well.

"All is different now. And when I think about it, this change to happiness wasn't so hard to accomplish, after all, and only cost me the price of a few bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic.

"For eight years I suffered with female ailments of the most awful kind.

"At times I thought I would go crazy, and I was very weak.

"But since I have been taking Cardui, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

"Cardui surely cured me, and I shall never tire of singing its praise.

"I am so thankful for what it has done for me."—Macon, Ga.

All women suffer, at times, from pain and ailments, and, as a result, are unhappy.

If you are a woman, you need, at such times, what all women need, a tonic—Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Cardui acts on the cause of the trouble.

By so doing, it helps to make you well.

Take Cardui for health and happiness. You will never regret it.

RICHESON, IF HE MUST DIE, WANTS TO BE A CATHOLIC

Former Prisoner Who Carried Meals to Poisoner Tells of Pastor's Desire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, April 30.—"If I have to die in the electric chair I will try to become a Catholic," said Clarence V. T. Richeson, the former Baptist clergyman, who is condemned to death for killing Avis Linnell of Hyannis, to a gate officer at the Charles street jail, according to Henry George, a young man just discharged from the institution.

A Catholic priest has visited Richeson 15 or 20 times in the last six weeks, and has given the condemned man much consolation, according to George. The first part of his confinement, Richeson was visited by a minister frequently, but but of late the minister's visits have given way to those of the priest. Sheriff Quinn does not think that Richeson will become a Catholic.

"I am in constant touch with Richeson," said Quinn today, "and I do not think he intends to become a Catholic. He has never expressed to me any desire to become a Catholic. The Rev. Father McLeod, jail chaplain, has talked with Richeson, but I do not think he has talked with him recently."

The young man who tells the story was released from the Charles street jail, where he acted as a "runner." He met Richeson three times a day when he took his meals to him.

Richeson will be taken to the death cell in the Massachusetts State Prison, May 9. Richeson's latest request is to see his father. He writes to his father's home in Lynchburg, Va. The answers to his letters, it is declared, are evidently unsatisfactory to the condemned man.

Oscar Bruder, who served as best man, Harry Neusseler, Walter Bramman, Alfred Kuhrman and Emil Harback of Quincy, Ill.

CHICAGO TO DRINK LESS

Expected 500 of 7000 Saloons Will Quit May 1.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Chicagoans are climbing on the "water wagon" in such large numbers that saloon keepers have begun to notice their daily receipts dropping off. More than 500 saloon keepers, it is believed, will not renew their licenses tomorrow, the first day of the second quarter, and the chief reason assigned is that men of all classes are drinking less.

Other reasons given for quitting business were the enforcement of laws relating to gambling, resorts and dance halls. There are about 7000 saloons in Chicago.

Seeks Postal Deposits for States.

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—Socialist Delegate Harry Thomas, in a resolution, has urged the Ohio constitutional convention to ask Congress to loan the deposits of the postal savings bank to states, counties and municipalities at 2½ per cent interest. The resolution provides that such loans would be secured by bonds.

An Entire Roomful of High-Class Furniture

Consisting of Library Table, Arm Rocker, Arm Chair and Reception Chair $14.50

$1 CASH, $1 A MONTH

An Opportunity
For you to furnish a library, den-room or sitting-room in an attractive manner at a surprisingly low price—and on terms of payment that cannot fail to please you.

This Set
Consists of four large, attractive pieces—a beautiful library table—large arm rocker—large arm chair—and one reception chair—all built of solid oak in Mission design and finished in Early English.

The Construction
These sets come to us from one of the best manufacturers—a firm that is noted for the exceptional character and distinguished style of its productions—and every piece reflects the high standard of workmanship for which this firm is so well known.

The Table
The libarary table is 36 inches long—strongly constructed—the top is covered in best Spanish Moroccoline leather and finished along the edge with leather-covered tacks. Has broad lower shelf for magazines and is provided with large drawer.

The Upholstering
The chairs and rocker all have automobile cushion seats—richly upholstered in Spanish Moroccoline leather—a fabric that looks exactly like genuine Morocco leather and will give unequaled service and satisfaction.

The Price, $14.50
It is the lowest price we have ever been in position to name for so handsome a set as this—and will undoubtedly create a whirlwind of selling here tomorrow. It is one of these exceptional values that you only see at May-Stern's—and is well worth your first attention tomorrow.

Note the Terms
We want to open a large number of new accounts this week and to accomplish this we are offering this beautiful set at this unparalleled low price and on terms of payment that are certainly pleasing—$1.00 cash and $1.00 a month. Why not take advantage of this opportunity?

Deliveries
You can easily appreciate that to deliver several hundred of these sets is enough to tax the capacity of our delivery service. It is for this reason we wish to ask you to be a little patient—every effort will be made to deliver all sets promptly and goods will be delivered in the order in which they are sold.

See Our Windows
These four-piece library sets are prominently displayed in our Olive St. windows. It is well worth your while to stop and see them tomorrow—it's the only way you can appreciate what an extraordinary value they are at $14.50.

All Goods Marked in plain figures and one price to all.

New money loaning institution

In the way loans are made and in the character of the management, there is no other institution in St. Louis like the Provident Loan and Securities Company.

It's really more like a bank than a loan company.

The only difference is in the securities on which loans are made.

Banks loan on commercial paper. Their loans are usually large.

We loan on diamonds and other small articles of value—the kind of securities banks do not recognize.

Institutions like this have been operating in New York, Boston, Chicago and other large cities for years.

Their function is understood. They render a public service. They do good.

This institution is a member of the National Association of Remedial Loan Societies. It is also associated with the Russell Sage Foundation.

It is not a charitable organization. It is a business run on a liberal and legitimate business basis. Fair for you—and fair for us.

Just come in with your security—and ask for Mr. C. M. Kelly, the Manager.

WALLACE COUNTS ON REGULAR TOIL FROM THREE KIDS

In Baumgardner and the Two Browns, Browns' Manager Believes He Has a Trio of Sensations.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

THAT he has accomplished the unusual in picking up three young pitchers who promise to make good during their first season in the big League, is the firm conviction of Manager Wallace of the Browns. He refers to ge Baumgardner, Charles Roy Brown and Elmer Brown. Even at this ly day and date Wallace believes that in these three "kids" he has lined men who will make their mark in 1912.

Wallace has convinced himself that Baumgardner and the two Browns are of big League timber, and is depending on them for regular toil from now on. In fact, he is practically building his pitching staff around these three juveniles.

Each season some team in the American and National League invariably shows a youngster that proves the sensation of his respective organization. Recent cases of this kind are Russell Ford, with the New York Yankees; "Rube" Marquard of the New York Giants, Leonard Cole with the Chicago Cubs, Vean Gregg with the Cleveland Naps and Grover Cleveland Alexander with the Philadelphia Quakers.

But Wallace has a chance of beating the records of these teams. He has three pitchers who right now look as if they might startle American League batters. And Wallace isn't making any rash predictions. He doesn't do things that. But each and every one of trio mentioned has had more than outing to date, and Wallace has been enough of them in action to satisfy himself that they will do.

"That we have picked up three good itchers this spring might sound like were pretty lucky," said Wallace to Post-Dispatch, "but I surely believe it is time that old Dame Fortune smiling on us. I am depending on mgardner and the two Browns for lar work. They have shown me ough to date to justify me in believing hat they are ready to work regularly."

"Then you don't think that the games pitched by these three men were flashes in the pan?" we inquired of the Browns' skipper.

"Certainly not," was his quick comeback. "They have the stuff, and what's more, in the games they have pitched have been required to show their gameness. That's a thing that has pleased me immensely."

And while Wallace is counting on Baumgardner and the two Browns for regular duty, he hasn't lost faith in men like Frill, Nelson, Mitchell, Hamilton and Bailey, as well as the veterans, Powell, Lake and Pelty. He is counting on having a pretty sweet pitching staff this season.

Elmer Brown Slated to Oppose Southpaw Vean Gregg in Final

THE sun came out early Tuesday morning, assuring a game between the Browns and Naps at Sportsman's Park. It will mark the final appearance of the Browns in St. Louis until next month, as the team hits the road following the game.

Manager Wallace will send Elmer Brown, the right-hander, to the mound to oppose the Clevelanders, while Vean Gregg, the southpaw, is scheduled to work against the Wallacean tribe.

Catchers Krichell and Stephens Ordered to Don Shin Protectors

THE Browns have but two catchers and Manager Wallace is going to safeguard them against injury. Despite the fact that Paul Krichell and Jimmy Stephens have refused to don shinguards, the manager has ordered a brand-new set of protectors and has commanded his backstops to don them during the games.

Even in 1911 when Wallace first went on the job as skipper for Col. Hedges he suggested the use of the shinguards, but his catchers, save "Nig" Clarke and his two-by-four shin pads, refused to wear them. Krichell and Stephens contend that the guards slow up their work behind the bat.

But Wallace has disregarded their argument and has purchased the guards. They are much the same as those worn by Manager Bresnahan and his understudies. That Krichell and Stephens have not already been laid down by the spikes of opposing base runners is a surprise to those who know the smakmen. They fear nothing and refuse to give one inch of ground to any man thundering in from third base.

The manager realizes the situation in which he would be placed if one of his receivers should be put on the hospital list and from now on the Brownie catchers will perform with armor.

The scheduled game between the Browns and Cleveland Naps Monday was postponed because of the frigid weather. That makes two successive days of idleness and three on the last week for the Browns.

The enforced layoffs are anything but pleasing to Manager Davis of the Naps. He blames the poor showing of his team to the fact that some of his hitters, notably Jackson, Easterly and Ryan, have not struck their stride. For that reason he wants as much work for his men as possible. Idling about a hotel corridor isn't improving the batting lamps of his men.

Tom Tennant is still lingering in St. Louis. The Frisco first baseman is awaiting orders from the Coast League club to which he has been returned. Tom was unfortunate in coming up after the Browns had obtained George Stovall. Had he arrived last spring he would have made a big difference in the Browns.

In handing out praise to Brown pitchers, Jawn Powell shouldn't be overlooked. The Palm street right-hander has started three times. He deserved victories in two of the games. Only in the game against the White Sox here did he fail to show high-class shoots.

The Browns depart Wednesday morning, an open date in the American League schedule, for Detroit, where they begin a four-game series with the Royal Bengals Thursday.

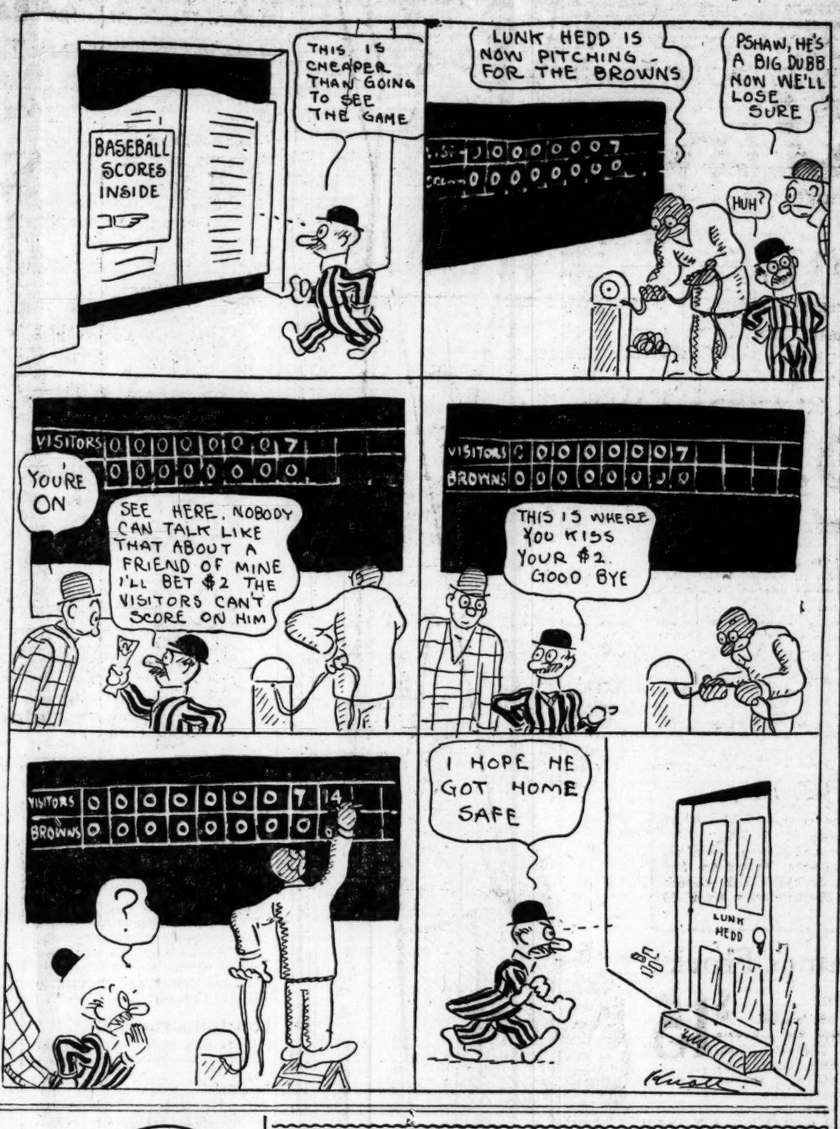

While Wednesday is an open date on the calendar for the Browns and Naps, it is impossible to play off one of their postponed games, because the Cardinals inaugurate their at-home stand with the Reds on that day.

Manager Wallace personally is welcoming the postponements because of his injured leg. However, he realizes that penuchle games are not helping the batting eyes of his players.

SCIENCE PITTED AGAINST STRENGTH IN BOUT TONIGHT

Clever Adolph Eaton Will Try to Last Eight Rounds With Leo Kelly.

IMPORTANT BOUTS TONIGHT.

Charley White vs. Johnny Dundee, 10 rounds, at Syracuse, N. Y.
Johnny Glover vs. Jack Feeney, 10 rounds, at Syracuse, N. Y.
Leo Kelly vs. Adolph Eaton, 6 rounds, at the Irish-American A. C., at St. Louis, Mo.
Chuck Larson vs. Young Saylor, 10 rounds, at Terre Haute, Ind.
Jake Barada vs. Freddie Daniels, 15 rounds, at St. Joseph, Mo.
Pal Moore vs. Jack Britton, 20 rounds, at San Francisco, Cal.

Adolph Eaton, one of several St. Louis graduated amateur boxers to make good professionally, will get a second chance at Leo Kelly, tonight, at the Irish-American Athletic Club. The show will be the final professional boxing entertainment put on at the organization this season, it having planned to turn its arena into a swimming tank for the summer months.

Kelly and Eaton met several times as mateurs and the count was pretty close, although Eaton always had a shade in skill. Kelly is a strong, sturdy fighter, but lacks aggressiveness. He hangs back and lets the other fellow do the fighting, being content to counter rather than lead. It's a habit that has lost a decision or two for him. Although he might defeat most of the men he is now whipped by, were the route 25 rounds, the present rules take no cognizance of "what might have been" and cruelly recognize what has been done.

Eaton went on against Kelly as a substitute for Harry Trendall, when the latter was ill. For two or three rounds despite his fat and lack of condition, he outpointed Kelly. But his wind went off the job and sturdy, well-conditioned Kelly forced him to stop.

Eaton today is in great shape and he will probably outpoint Kelly unless the latter has changed his tactics. If the bout were 20 rounds Kelly would look a certain winner.

The other bouts scheduled for tonight are as follows:

Hi Oncher and Frank Kuptz, 126 pounds, six rounds; Charles Cain vs. Young Attell, 122 pounds, six rounds; Archie McLeod and Harry Wade, 115 pounds.

M'FARLAND'S EARNINGS REACH $200,000 MARK

NEW YORK, April 30.—According to a statement by Packey McFarland here, his $10,000 reward for defeating Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, brings his total winnings in the ring up to an even $110,000. His figures show that an additional $90,000 represents his earnings in theatrical sidelines, making a grand total of $200,000 since he knocked out his first opponent, Pete West, in two rounds, eight years ago. He received only $25 for that initial appearance.

McFarland, as is well known, is thrifty and economical. Most of his earnings are carefully "salted" away. He has no bad habits, his friends say, and is only 24 years old, so that he expects by the time he retires from the ring to find himself within reaching distance of the millionaire class.

When McFarland left the garden after whipping Wells, he hurried back to his quarters in the Bronx and sent out for a quart of ice cream. As he slowly got away with it, he remarked:

"This is my weakness, boys. It makes me feel fine."

Contrary to the old habits of victorious fighters, there was no popping of champagne corks, no expensive cigars and no all-night revelry. McFarland was in bed fast asleep two hours after he had disposed of the British champion.

LOCAL BOXERS SHOW IN MOOSE CLUB BOUTS

The Loyal Order of Moose, at its headquarters in the Holland Building, entertained its members, Monday night, with a vaudeville and boxing entertainment. The boxers who appeared in four-round exhibitions were: "Kid" Peppers, Harry Wade, Frank Keipts, Paddy Kelly, Archie McLeod and Oliver Bishop. Ged Fitzgerald, who, two weeks ago, boxed an exhibition with Battling Nelson before the Moose, was referee and master of ceremonies. Supreme International Organizer James Davis was the guest of honor.

Brannigan Meets Pat Delaney.

CLEVELAND, O., April 30.—Patsy Brannigan of New Castle and Pat Delaney, a sparring partner of Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, will box 12 rounds before the Tuxedo Club here, tonight. They will weigh in at 120 pounds.

Jimmy Dunne, Kilbane's manager, says that if Delaney wins tonight he will take him East for bouts when Kilbane goes to box Johnny Dundee in New York on May 14.

Kid Graves of Cleveland and Kid Alberts of Elizabeth, N. J., lightweights, will also box 12 rounds.

Cardinals Expect Jinx Will Quit Work During Team's Long Home Stay

Roger's Troubles With Pitchers and Sick Players Should Be Over Ere Team Goes East, May 26.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

With six defeats and one victory to show as their end of the spoils from the first swing around the Western wing of the Lynch League circuit, the crippled Cardinals are back at the old stand to start anew.

The good ship, minus a skipper, is steaming through treacherous waters at present, but will be put into dry dock for a few days and, with Old Sol on the job, the repair men hope to launch the craft under full steam again when the Eastern clubs, headed by New York, invade St. Louis next week. Cincinnati opens a four-game series here Wednesday.

Warm weather is what the club needs most. The team is not running smoothly and, with poor pitching, such as has been served up by Harmon, Sallee, Steele et al., the club has looked bad. However, one victory will work wonders if the weather is such as to permit the players to work out morning and afternoons.

Pitchers Need Work.

The Cardinal pitchers attribute their poor showing to lack of practice. The hurlers have had little or no work this spring and on the recent disastrous trip they often went two or three days without warming up. Sallee showed flashes of form at times and deserved to win a game in Pittsburg and another in Cincinnati, but Harmon and Steele didn't do anything that was expected of them at any time. Harmon is credited with the only victory, but big Bob earned that decision in a haphazard way in Chicago. He was wild and ineffective, but the Cubs played ragged ball and presented our boys with a game. The Cardinals played their best ball in Cincinnati, but the Reds at the time were traveling on high gear and all but unbeatable.

The club lost games, reputation and everything but confidence on the trip. The men returned home Monday evening with a determination and, to a man, they predict a winning season at home.

"Our club will not stay in the rut long," declared Miller Huggins. "We figure to get going pretty soon and once we start to hitting we will win games, even if the pitching is a little shy of the mark. However, we need a lot of practice, and if we put in the needed licks at home, will be ready for the Eastern clubs next week. I figure we'll win more games than we'll lose at home and be in shape a month from now to give them all a battle for first division sleeping quarters."

Hauser Is O. K.

The crippled list is decreasing daily. Arnold Hauser reports himself fully recovered from the ptomaine poisoning, while Steve Evans tossed aside the bandages from his injured hand and figures to get back in harness by the week end.

Manager Bresnahan did not accompany the team here, having gone to his home in Toledo. The Toledo Duke will again assume command of his battered army Wednesday and he has hopes of getting in shape for the New York series, which opens next Monday. With Bresnahan back on the job the club should show signs of life.

Manager pro tem Huggins had the men out for a short practice Tuesday morning and will follow up with another session Tuesday afternoon. Batting and pitching practice are the main items on Huggins' schedule, as arranged by Manager Bresnahan.

Bob Harmon Still Has Wild Man of Borneo Lashed to the Mast

Bob Harmon, the violinist, was crowned the premier "wild-man" of the National League last season. And Bob intends to garner those same honors again this year. Already he has a flying start. In 17 innings to date, he has issued 21 bases on balls, which averages up well nigh two passes to every three innings. This is expensive liberality, but Bob believes it pays to be generous.

Miller Huggins is a pretty nifty leadoff man, if the fans care to know. In the 13 games played by the Cardinals, Miller has reached first nine times in the inaugural innings. He opened three games with singles, walked in five and was winged once. In four games he scored a run in the first inning, and three of these games were won. That's pretty fair indication of Hug's value as lead-off man. Incidentally Hug is going after the "walking" honors in the parent body this season. He has coaxed eight passes to date.

This Ivey Wingo will be a wiz some day—just wait and see. Ivey has been to bat 14 times this season, and he owns six hits. He walked four times which does not figure in his swatting average. But the best thing that can be said about Wingo is his wing. Ivey possesses an arm of steel, and his throwing has been deadly. He turned back all the Chicago thieves and made the Cubs tame as lambs.

Bresnahan has a goodly supply of outfielders. With Elmer Miller, the newcomer, Roger now owns no less than seven, to wit: Oakes, Evans, Ellis, Wilie, Miller, Million and Clark. Three of these will be turned adrift soon.

The one big, bright feature of the Cardinals' playing so far has been the work of Ed Konetchy. The big Dutch-tasker is doing everything according to Hoyle. He's hitting around .400 and fielding about 1000. The Big Train didn't commit an error on the trip, being the only fielder to escape without a miscue.

Diamond Glints

The Cardinals are one full game out of last place, a position held by Brooklyn. However, when Boston and New York come west to tackle the Pirates and Reds, the race may tighten up. Boston belongs below the Cardinals, and will wend its way there soon.

Chicago is wild about the White Sox, and James John Callahan is the one big noise in the Windy City. The Cubs are being sadly overlooked by the fans, scarcely 10,000 seeing the recent three games played by the Cardinals at the West Side lot.

Another shutout for the Yankees! Walter Johnson turned the trick, letting the luckless proteges of Harry Wolverton down with five stingy hits. Big Jim Vaughan gave the Nationals only three, but they came at the wrong time. The Yanks are last, 2—10.

Seven hits netted the Red Sox only one run off Eddie Plank, while 13 safeties gave the Monarchs of Baseball, the Athletics, seven tallies. Charley Wagner of the Stahlies copped three safe knocks out of four times up.

In defense of J. Burke, it must be said that the Indianapolis club got absolutely no spring practice, being one of the many teams which suffered by the "training at home" plan. The Hoosiers show the ill effects of their lack of early training.

Wray's Column

WORLD IS FULL OF WORKERS.

PACKEY McFARLAND says the only way to achieve success is by constant work. In which case we may remark that the field is crowded with coming champions.

EXPECTED MOMENTARILY.

THE UNITED STATES LEAGUE will start Wednesday. It's finish is not scheduled for this week.

ARE YOU ANGRY, ROGER?

THAT ROW IN THE CARDINALS' front office may not affect the team; but one can't help wondering if it plays any part in keeping a manager on the bench.

WAITING FOR A CHANCE.

"I'M NOT GOING TO HURT YOU," remarks the United States League to the major organizations. And in chapter two it brings down the big club on the conch of the confiding ones—if it lives as far as the second chapter. N. B.—In baseball, as in love, all is fair if you can dodge the blows.

IT HAS BEEN WORSE.

WHY KICK AT THE showing of the Cardinals? Do you want them to betray their hand all at once? Last year, at one early stage of the race the standing was: Cardinals, 4—12.

It can never be that bad this season. They've already won five games.

ROUGH HOUSE DAY OVER.

MODERN BOXING LAWS are certain to introduce a new race of fighters. The day of the "iron man" is gone. With limited round contests on the map everywhere, and clean break rules governing contests, the fussy old body-fighter has gone to his doom.

Fortunately for the science of the game, the day when a man can stand up and take the punishment of a scientific fighter for 24 rounds and outlast him in the twenty-fifth, is gone. The sport is on a plane now where the skillful men have an equal chance with the sturdy.

In fact, the active man has all the better of it under 10-round ring rules. He can go at top speed for the entire route while his patient and dogged opponent, waiting for a break in his efficiency, will hardly have a chance to slip one over.

HAD THE WRONG IDEA.

THE OLD SCHOOL was, after all, a wrong one. The finish fight never was a test of merit. For example a man will outlast a horse, if the distance, time and topography conditions are right.

Yet he can't even beat the quadruped for 100 yards with a big lead, despite the stereotyped circus performance.

QUOTE HIS RIGHT, PLEASE.

IT'S A GOOD THING we have a doubt, now and then, about the authenticity of interviews published. Otherwise the standing of J. H. Mason, Prosecuting Attorney of Springfield, Mo., would suffer an awful relapse. For instance, today he is quoted as saying that he will not stop the Carl Morris bout until he is satisfied it is in violation of the Missouri law regulating prize fighting.

There is no law regulating prize fighting; but there's an awfully stringent one prohibiting it.

PLANK IS SAWING WOOD.

ONE OF THE FEW PITCHERS in the baseball world who is "right" at this early stage of the season is Ed Plank of the Athletics. Mack's starting southpaw has pitched splendid baseball all season. The only point that need be worried over in his connection is whether he will be able to remain on edge for the six months of the season. It's a hard task for the best of them. And a good southpaw will be needed this season in the Ban Johnson league. Scarcely a club in the organization has a batting order that will not be especially vulnerable to southpaw pitching.

WHEN WILL THEY BREAK?

CONNIE MACK, about this time of his career, must be looking fate frankly in the eye and inquiring of her what she has in store for him. This season he seems destined to get by all right. For, even though Coombs be permanently hurt, Mack has enough pitching talent to carry him over the hurdles to victory. But the time is close at hand when Bender and Plank, his two standbys, are going to crack. Experts have been speculating on this happening for the last three seasons. When it does come there will be a troublesome time replacing them with adequate performers. There are no successors to these stars now in sight in the Athlete camp. Meh like Bender and Plank only come once a decade.

HIS TIME IS COMING.

WITH THEM GONE, all the eulogies written about Cornelius the Great will be forgotten. No matter what the great teacher may be able to tell his men about field and base line play, it will avail nothing unless he has an exceptional defensive pitcher to hold up the club. Baker can club the ball to death and still not win, if the team has no Bender to stall off the rush of the enemy.

Addie Joss once said that a team's defense depended to the extent of 70 per cent on the efficiency of its pitcher. He might as well have made it 100. For, when the pitching fails the defense goes altogether to pieces. If you bombard the infield often enough it will fall apart, and any outfield will eventually grow tired of running after hit balls.

ABOUT COOMBS.

SO THE CONNIE MACKS are destined to remain great just so long as Ed. Plank and Bender last.

Coombs? Yes, probably he's a great pitcher. But if you ask most of the good men in the game they'll answer your inquiry about him with another question. It is:

How does he get by?

Cue Tourneys Wind Up.

The pool and billiard tournament, in progress at the Printing Trades Club since last December, has ended. Following are the results in the pool tournament: Charles McPherson, Post-Dispatch, first; Ralph Tucker, Globe-Democrat, second, and Webster Wheeler, Post-Dispatch, third. In the billiard tourney Louis Quinn, Republic, was first; "Buck" Fiori, Printing Trades Club, second, and Roger Geary of the Globe-Democrat third. Three prizes were awarded in each tournament.

BILL: Made a great discovery—the Loftis Credit System. Now you get the diamond.

Two Bouts for McFarland.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Packey McFarland has been matched for two 10-round bouts for the immediate future. Next Monday night he will box "Red" Robinson of Pittsburg, at Rochester, N. Y., and May 9 he will fight Martin Canole at Fall River, Mass.

TENPIN TEAMS FAIL TO WORRY LEADERS

Sixteen five-men teams competed in the annual city tenpin tournament Monday evening, but failed to worry the Lynches, who occupy the lead in the scratch and handicap divisions of that class. Their mark from scratch is 2826, while the handicap mark is 2879. The nearest approach to these figures was made Monday by the Schaepers, who rolled 2860. The Lacledes, with 2857, were the runners-up.

In the individual rolling, F. Hughes of the Grimms, with a 537 total, was high man. Monday's totals follow: Schaepers, 2860; Lacledes, 2857; Drill Corps, 2837; Woodpeckers, 2784; Grimms, 2746; Oberts, 2733; Arcades, 2693; Walters, 2680; Groebels, 2671; Spaldings, 2666; Hintzs, 2656; Grands, 2581; Missouri No. 2, 2562, and Missouri No. 2, 2262.

Walden Goes to Fort Worth.

Catcher Tom Walden, the St. Louis boy, who was tried out by the Dallas (Texas League) team this spring, has been sold to the Fort Worth team of the same league. He was not needed as Catcher Mike Murphy, the former Brownie, was returned to the Dallas team. Walden was recommended to Dallas Gardner by Scout Charley Barthe Browns.

TUG-OF-WAR TEAM MUST PAY EXPENSES

NEW YORK, April 30.—In response to a telegram from J. B. Franklin, president of the Southern Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, requesting information in regard to the Olympic tug-of-war tryouts, the American Olympic Committee today sent the following message:

"Subscriptions received up to date do not warrant taking a tug-of-war team. Tryouts might create false impression that tug-of-war team would be sent. Committee, however, will authorize tryouts in Chicago with understanding that the winning team must finance its own trip to Stockholm."

Bait Casters Meet Thursday.

PRUNING TIME.

When the heads begin to fall,
And you hear the Minors call,
When the cruel ax doth gleam
And they start to trim the team,
Then our hearts are oft-times sad
For we'd learned to love the lad
And for him our heart doth yearn
And we hope he may return.

Back from Moscow.

Forecast for today: A little more of the same—perhaps.

April showers bring May flowers, but whothel cares for flowers.

A few more days like yesterday and Headsman Hedges will reduce his squad to a corporal's guard.

The prisoners in the Leavenworth penitentiary have organized an outlaw league. We presume the umpire will be some "retired" porch climber.

The stolen base record there will be watched with interest.

The players can make errors without fear of being released.

Lost and Found

THAT LOST ARTICLE MAY NOT BE FOUND TODAY

or tomorrow or next week. In fact, a month or more may elapse bfeore it turns up. A little persistency may be necessary. Often the article remains unfound; often fear of prosecution or hope of a more satisfactory reward may delay the restoration. Then, the belated awakening of the finder's conscience explains many delays. But persistency and Post-Dispatch wants will usually recover a lost article if an honest person finds it. The service of the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau is also enlisted in behalf of advertisers.
